The Pact Is Signed
$25,000 for 2000 Words
Jersey for Smith, Says Hague
Helen Wills Is for Hoover

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

THE KELLOGG PEACE PACT is signed. What will the United States do with it?

Germany signed first, and Briand, brilliant Frenchman, spoke cordially of Stresemann, the German statesman, and praised Secretary Kellogg, calling Woodrow Wilson Mr. Kellogg's "illustrious forerunner."

Briand supposed the pact was signed in France, "thanks to her constant effort in the cause of peace." The constant efforts of Napoleon the First and Napoleon the Third were not exactly in the cause of peace. But they represented their own vanity, not the real French people.

That peace pact for the "renunciation of war" is sincerely meant. If it has no strings, attaching us to the League of Nations, it will be acceptable to the American people.

But they will notice that Europe's armies today are bigger than in 1913, before the great war.

Three million men are under arms in Europe now; other hundreds of thousands have been called to the colors for training. Swift mobilization is practiced.

France has 686,000 men under arms; Italy 347,000; England 408,000; Germany and Russia alone have reduced — Germany from 800,000 to 100,000; Russia from 1,200,000 to 980,000.

There is plenty of powder ready for the match. This country should think of preparation besides talking of sweet peace.

Mr. W. C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, who believes prohibition a good thing, offers $25,000 for the best essay, not longer than 2,000 words, telling how to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment.

Mr. Durant, paraphrasing Abraham Lincoln, wonders whether our "institutions can endure with a citizenship half law abiding and half lawless?"

The answer is: "Yes, it can."

The prosperous class has usually done much as it pleased. It doesn't break little laws about pocket picking and stealing. It doesn't need to. It not only breaks but despises and teaches its children to despise a prohibition law that interferes with its pleasure.

If lawmakers really meant to enforce prohibition, which they don't mean, they would make purchase of alcoholic drinks a felony, punished by imprisonment and heavy fines, fines to be divided with bootleggers giving information, the informers going scot free.

The mayor of Jersey City tells Governor Smith that he has already won New Jersey, and will get its electoral vote.

Mayor Hague ought to know, for with his organization he has carried New Jersey, electing governors and senators for many years.

Helen Wills is for Hoover, will vote for him, and work as head of the sports division in the "Women's Committee for Herbert Hoover."

That announcement offsets two or three large Wall Street men leaving the Republicans to join the Democrats.

If all those that admire the wonderful young California girl vote for Hoover, his plurality will make that of Mr. Coolidge look small.

Drop Blasphemy Warrant

GILLIS HALTS SALES PENDING HEARING BY STATE FIRE MARSHAL

Newburyport, Aug. 28—"Bossy" Gillis today closed his disputed gas filling station at State and High sts.

The closing was ordered by the red-headed warring mayor in a telephone message from Boston, after he had conferred with State Fire Marshal George C. Neal.

At the conference, Marshal Neal declined to issue a State permit to store and sell 8000 gallons of gasoline until he first had notified all those who had complained to him.

These complainants have the right of demanding a public hearing on the matter of the gas station's possibly constituting a fire hazard

The elderly fire marshal advised "Bossy's" legal adviser, City Solicitor T Francis Keliher, that it would be better to suspend the station pending the outcome.

With Mayor Gillis at the State House were Solicitor Keliher and Fire Chief C Frank Creedon.

The conference lasted but a few minutes and was in a conversational tone except toward the close when "Bossy" raised his voice and said:

"I've suffered a great deal, financially, physically and otherwise."

After the parley, "Bossy" immediately telephoned his associated at the gas station and the place was closed down, with a sign stating:

"Another Bossy' Gillis gas station around the corner."

The Mayor has operated this other station for several years without any dispute.

Gillis' closing of his disputed station nullified a demand made today on Building Inspector Oliver W. Page that Page enforce the zoning ordinance which styles the High st. district residential.

The demand was made by Ernest Foss, counsel for the group opposing

WITHDRAW BLASPHEMY WARRANT FOR KALLEN

Prof. Horace Meyer Kallen, accused of blasphemy in a warrant issued yesterday as a result of his Boston address at Sacco-Vanzetti memorial exercises, will never face trial on the charge.

Decision to recall a warrant granted under an old statute by Judge Michael J Murray was reached today, following a conference between Judge Murray and other interested in the case.

A complete study of the law providing punishment for blasphemy and of Prof Kallen's speech as recorded by stenographers convinced the authorities that the charge was not well founded and that a conviction could not be obtained.

Prof. Kallen, former Harvard honor student and now a member of the faculty of a social research school in New York, did not appear at the courthouse today nor was he being sought by the police.

DOHENY IS SUED FOR MILLIONS

Los Angeles, Aug. 28 (AP)—Edward L. Doheny and directors of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, today faced a bill of complaint demanding an accounting of $10,000,000 stockholders allege they lost in the fraudulent lease of the Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve.

The complaint, filed in behalf of Frank H. Kunkel, Cincinnati, and other shareholders, declares the loss resulted from the cancellation of the lease by a decision of the United States Supreme Court after the company had spent several million dollars in development of the field.

The lease was negotiated for the Government by Albert B. Fall, then Secretary of the Interior.

The $100,000 delivered to Fall by E. L. Doheny, Jr., in the much discussed "little black satchel" was declared in the suit to have been given by the stockholders and used as a bribe. An accounting of his exchange also is asked

RULES MYSTIC LAKES ARE SAFE FOR BATHING

The health of bathers in the Mystic lakes is not endangered by pollution of the water, Dr. George H. Bigelow, State commissioner of health, announced today following a demand made upon the Metropolitan District Commission to end bathing there.

In a letter to Davis P. Keniston, chairman of the commission, Representative Lewis M. Peters of Medford declared the water polluted to the extent that bathers were in danger of typhoid and other diseases, and asked that permission to bathe be rescinded.

Dr. Bigelow disclosed that as recently as July 25 he advised the Winchester Board of Health, after making an analysis of the water, that the contents of the Upper Mystic lake and at Sandy Beach continued to be of suitable quality for public bathing.

The only thing that might endanger the purity of the water would be the necessity of again discharging considerable quantities of sewage from the Winchester system into the Aberjona river, he pointed out.

Since Dr. Bigelow's letter to the health board, sewage has been diverted from the Aberjona and the water should be better than ever before, Chief Engineer Goodnough of the health commission reported.

He said the lake water was cleaner than that found at many ocean beaches heavily patronized by bathers.

Representative Peters' letter emphasizes the danger of spread of

RAIDERS GET $16,000 IN ALCOHOL; PADLOCK DRIVE IN SO. BOSTON

With padlocks in prospect for 30 South Boston "speakeasies," police of that district today raided a warehouse in the Congress st. yards of the New Haven road and seized 27 drums containing 1350 gallons of pure alcohol valued at $16,000.

The padlocks are being prepared as a result of more than 100 raids made by Sergt. William MacBeth, Special Officer Landry and others in South Boston since the orders went out to make a cleanup about a month ago.

Today's raid was made by Sergt. Jeremiah O'Neill of the Athens st. station, with Patrolman John J. Donovan, acting on a telephoned tip furnished by a woman whose name the police claim they do not know.

The seizure, the second made in the Congress st. yards in three weeks, required two 5-ton trucks to transport it to the police station and was one of the largest yet made.

Fifteen of the drums were labelled: "From F. Simpson Co., to J. H. Hall Co., Boston," the others bearing the inscription: "From Allegheny Chemical Corp., New York, to Allegheny Chemical Corp., Boston." These names, the police say, are fictitious.

Employes of the warehouse claimed to be ignorant of the contents of the drums, which were said to have been unloaded from a freight car this morning. Police are making an investigation to determine the source of the shipment.

The police refused to discuss the information one which they acted, other than to say the tip was received from a woman who telephoned to the home of Sergt. O'Neil. It

N. E. LINER SINKS TUG IN CRASH; 1 DROWNED

New York, Aug. 27 (INS)—One man was believed drowned in the waters of Hell Gate today when the New England liner Chester W. Chapin rammed and sank the tugboat Volunteer.

A dozen men, manning the tug and four barges it had in tow, were thrown into the water by the crash. Nearby vessels saved most of the men. Two of the crew swam to shore. Although varied reports were received by police, it was said all but one man were accounted for.

The accident was due either to a misunderstanding of signals or to a thick fog and treacherous currents which swung the tug across the liner's bow.

Following the crash the Chapin ran aground, but was pulled into dock without injury to any of the 250 passengers or crew.

OTHER NATIONS CLAMOR TO SIGN ANTI-WAR PACT

Paris, Aug. 28 (AP)—The effect of the signing of the Kellogg-Briand war renunciation treaty already was apparent today. Nations in various parts of the world had announced their desire to become part of the pact.

Original signatures were still wet when messages of adherence by other countries began to reach Paris. Denmark, Jugoslavia, Rumania and Peru are among those expressing this wish.

The compact now is open to adherence by all civilized nations. An official invitation to join in the pledge has been handed by the French ambassador to Maxim Litvinoff, Russian Soviet commissar for foreign affairs at Moscow.

It is expected at least a year will elapse before the treaty has been finally ratified by the original signatory countries whose legislatures must act.

Congratulations still were being received by M. Briand today while Parisians in general, including the not inconsiderable element of population furnished by American and

5 GIRLS HYSTERICAL AS STONE BREAKS WINDOW

Five sisters, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Geardo DeGruttola of Crest ave., Beachmont, sleeping in a bedroom of their home, were frightened into hysteria today when a stone was hurled through a window.

No member of the family was able to offer any explanation of the incident, and when the girls' father, after hurriedly dressing, searched the neighborhood he could find no prowler, according to his report to the police.

The sisters, Rose, 18; Anna, 16; Ida, 13; Eleanor, 6, and Mary, 4, were aroused by the crash of glass as a rock shattered both halves of the window, which was open. The two older girls turned on the lights, and when they saw the damage to the indow, screamed lustily, being joined by their sisters.

The remainder of the family rushed in, and the father made his search. The girls became so hysterical it was necessary to call a physician.

The theory that the rock might have been thrown by a disgruntled suitor of either Rose or Anna was denied by their mother.

other tourists, celebrated with appropriate calm and decorum.

Extremists made efforts to belittle and mock the pact. Several taxicab loads of this element demonstrated down the Champs Elysees but the police confiscated the cabs and locked up the occupants.

The prefect of police prevented any concerted demonstration by the simple process of detaining 60 of the most notorious extremist leaders.

Frank B. Kellogg, American Secretary of State, retired early to get a night's rest, preparatory to attending a luncheon offered by President Doumergue today, and a reception at the Paris City Hall. He plans to leave Havre tomorrow aboard the cruiser Detroit for Ireland.

Will Senate Ratify Anti-War Pact? Washington Wonders

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—What will the Senate do? is the question which interests Washington, now that the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty has been signed.

The answer to it at this time is that there appears to be no reason why the pact should not be ratified promptly, but this view is qualified by the admonition that many things can happen in international and domestic affairs before next winter to change the current outlook.

Fortified by an undeniable public will toward international pacts that will make armed conflict less likely and still absolve the United States from foreign entanglements, the administration is expected to put the full force of its prestige behind the treaty when it is presented to the Senate.

The capital view is that there undoubtedly will be opposition from some quarters, but, on the other hand, that the treaty will have many important friends.

In the light of facts as they now stand, Senator Borah seems certain to be in the latter group. As chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee he will be a key man in President Coolidge's request for ratification. He is credited with having been fully informed while negotiations for the treaty were in progress and thus to have been given the opportunity to present any objections he may have had. His full support, therefore, is counted upon.

Women's Union Would Abolish All "War" Departments

Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 28 (AP)—Telegraphing congratulations to Secretary Kellogg for consummation of the peace treaty, the World Union of Women for International Concord suggested that all countries adhering to the pact eliminate the word "war" as a title for administrative departments.

The telegram, which was dispatched by Mrs. Clara Guthrie Darcis, president of the union, declared the treaty "strikes at the roots of fear, which is the principal psychological cause of war."

The complainant further declares that since then Doheny has disposed of his controlling interest in the company to the Pan-American Eastern Petroleum Company which is alleged to be controlled by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

The suit demands that Doheny personally be compelled to reimburse the stockholders for the alleged losses.

Doheny refused to comment on the complaint, declaring he would submit it to his attorneys before making any announcement.

SHIP THEN RUNS ON ROCKS

steamship Dorothy Bradford was unable to make her way to Long Wharf until early today on account of the impenetrable fog which blanketed the New England coast. The boat was nine hours late in docking.

While scores of anxious relatives paced the dock, the vessel lay at anchor off Boston Light. The captain of the vessel, Peleg Thatcher, was unwilling to attempt to bring the craft into the harbor until the fog lifted sufficiently to enable the lookouts to distinguish landmarks.

The greatest excitement was on the wharf where the anxious friends and relatives waited for the arrival of the boat. On board the vessel all the staterooms were thown open to the passengers and hot food was served without charge.

The fog, which is still blanketing Boston harbor and the entire north Atlantic coast, is said by old seafaring men to be one of the worst they have ever experienced. Shipping is practically at a stand-still.

The Boston airport has been blanketed with the fog for more than 36 hours and only in cases of extreme emergency are planes taking to the air.

On the Newburyport turnpike at the junction with the Andover turnpike, five persons were injured when two cars crashed in the fog.

One car was driven by Mrs. Ida Wagner of Sheridan st., Lawrence, who was riding alone in her machine when it crashed into the car of Emile Martineau of Cottage st., Sanford, Me. With Martineau in his machine were Miss Amelia Bedard of New York city, Louis Martineau of Sanford and Mrs. Anna Martineau of Quebec. All were badly shaken up and bruised, while Mrs. Wagner suffered internal injuries. They were taken to the J. B. Thomas hospital at Peabody where Mrs. Wagner's name is on the danger list.

At Framingham the fog was so thick that Lieut. Duke, commander of the Boston airport was forced to land his plane. The Boston-Nantucket mail plane bound for Boston was forced down by the fog at Kingston, R. I., while Lieut. A. M. Meuther in a Massachusetts National Guard plane was compelled to make a forced landing on a golf links at New Haven. Lieut. Jack Ayers of Springfield, endeavoring to fly from his home to the Boston airport, was forced down at Framingham.

UNIQUE OPERATION SAVES $250 OSTRICH

New York, Aug. 28—Attempted "rubber-necking" while travelling in an animal consignment on the Hamburg-American liner Hamburg, nearly proved fatal to a $250 ostrich, it was learned here on the ship's arrival.

A protruding nail cut the bird's neck seriously as the ostrich sought to peer about the ship's hold. Then followed a unique operation at sea. Dr. Wilhelm Geller, chief surgeon, and his assistant, Dr. G. Fleming, gathering their instruments and bandages, went below with the ship's nurses to operate.

is understood the tip was recevied within a short time after the alcohol arrived in the yards, or immediately after it was unloaded and placed in the freight house.

On August 7 the South Boston police made a similar raid, at which time they seized 10 drums of alcohol, consigned by the Simpson Co., to the Hall Co.

The headquarters liquor squad has not made its appearance in the district since the activities of the South Boston officers started a month ago.

Commissioner Wilson, it was disclosed today, is being supplied with the names of occupants of all places raided, the names of the owners and the addresses, for the purpose of padlock proceedings later through Dist. Atty. Foley and the courts.

Fifty of the places raided and closed were of the kitchen barroom type. Seven places were within a radius of 300 yards of the police station on Athens st. and all are now closed tight.

The avowed purpose of the police is to keep driving on in the hope of either closing all places effectively or getting such a list of charges against them that padlock injunctions can be procured.

Hardly a day passes but three or four liquor law violators are taken to court by Sergt. MacBeth and his assistants who are on the job from eight to ten hours a day. Yesterday the total of defendants arraigned by them was six. The usual fine of $50 has been increased to $100 by Judge Logan and in many instances House of Correction sentences are given.

The sergeant's activities evidently have been the means of driving some traffickers to the streets as attested by one case before Judge Logan today. MacBeth testified he was attracted by a small crowd in Andrews sq., and discoered Frank Chamberlain selling drinks from his hip pocket.

Judge Logan fined Chamberlain $100.

skin diseases from bathing in the Mystic, but Dr. Bigelow pointed out that skin infection known as pustular impetiginous, now quite prevalent in the New England states, is not caused by contaminated water.

It is by no means confined to persons who swim in the Mystic lakes, he said. Recently two hospitals were forced to close their maternity wards because of it. Bathing does not spread it, the health commissioner said, but exchange of bathing suits and towels is quite likely to cause its spread from infected persons. This has nothing to do with pollution in the lakes, he made clear.

WOMEN INVADE HUB YACHTING CIRCLES

Feminine invasion of another field which has been considered more or less exclusively masculine, promises to make the "stronger sex" look to its laurels.

That field is yachting.

This is the consensus of opinion garnered at yacht clubs as a wide general increase in the popularity of the sport has been reported.

So much has women's adoption of the yachting game been noted at the South Boston Yacht Club that a special class for women is to be established for the first time in the history of the club.

Already weekly special races for girl skippers is an established institution at the Bay View Yacht Club.

"Yachting will become the great national sport," says "Skipper" Mae Murray, who lives at 776 Fourth st., South Boston, considered one of the best of the girl skippers at the South Boston Yacht Club. TWO WOO TO WIN ONE

Miss Rose Kahn, Radcliffe graduate, and Irving Frankel, of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, whose reported wooing of the girl is said to have caused her rift with young Garceau of Harvard. The latter denies this and says his quarrel with the girl has been "patched up."

GARCEAU SAYS LOVE RIFT IS 'PATCHED UP'

The sunshine has broken through the clouds to brighten the corner of love for Ernest L. Garceau, who confessed today he has "patched up" all differences with Miss Rose Kahn and is to take her as a bride.

So young Garceau was declaring, while word came from Canada that wooing of the girl in the case by a Boston musician was the real factor that sped up the healing of the rift between the Harvard man and his former bride-to-be.

Garceau denied a report circulated today, that attentions of a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra to the girl caused their recent "break." Garceau fears no rival for her love, he says.

Garceau is a Harvard graduate, living at the Harvard Liberal Club, in Cambridge. Miss Kahn is a Radcliffe graduate, whose home is in Nashua, N. H.

He says the quarrel which resulted in cancellation of marriage intentions of himself and Miss Kahn, has ended.

"Everything is being patched up and I expect to marry her," said the Newton youth, son of Mrs. Edgar Garceau.

He was vigorous in his denial that attentions his fiancee received from Irving Frankel, member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, were responsible for their break. A report to this affect was received in Boston today.

Miss Kahn spent a part of her vacation this summer at a St. Andrews, N. B., hotel at which Frankel was playing as a member of the orchestra.

$8000 TOUR BOAT BURNED

Newport R. I., Aug. 28—The $8000 express cruiser, Monahanis, owned by William F. Fotterall of Port Kennedy, Pa., exploded and burned to the water's edge at her mooring off the Conanicut Yacht Club, Jamestown, today. There was nobody aboard.

The cause of the explosion was undetermined, although it was believed an overheated exhaust pipe may have been responsible as the speed boat made a fast run from Bristol last night. Several expensive craft moored near her were moved before they were damaged.

The Monahanis was formerly owned by Col. Edward H. R. Green of South Dartmouth, Mass.

'WET' WORKER HELD IN FRAUD

Salem, Aug. 28 (AP)—George L. Graham of Winthrop, who was charged with filing an unlawful petition containing forged names, was held in 500 bail in district court today for a hearing on September 4.

Graham pleaded not guilty and furnished his own bail.

The petition, which contained the names of a number of clergymen, was for a referendum on the 18th amendment.

Graham said he hired three men to obtain the signatures and declared he thought the names were genuine.

OUTH END MAN HELD IN BROOKLINE FOR BREAK

atrick C. Norris, 50, of Washington st., South End, appeared in rookline court on a continuance day, charged with breaking and ntering the basement of an apartent house at 337 St. Paul st., and rceny of a suitcase. He was held $2000 for the grand jury. Norris was arrested a week ago after a chase through back yards and over fences.

WOMEN JURORS WEEP; FREE ONE WHO SLEW HUSBAND

Glasgow, Scotland, Aug. 28 (AP)—In court today Christina Baillee, aged 28 years, was acquitted of a charge of culpable homicide in connection with the death of her husband. The jury included several women who wept unrestrainedly with many women in court as they rendered the verdict. The acquitted woman, leaving the court, was carried shoulders high.

HOOVER LEADS SMITH BY 6989

SEE WOMEN AS VITAL FACTOR

By JOHN W. DIENHART

Chicago, Aug. 28—Political sentiment throughout the Nation, 10 weeks before the men and women voters elect the next President of the United States, was disclosed today by the Hearst newspapers.

Hoover leads in the nation by 6989 over Smith.

Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee, is the choice of the women and of the rural districts.

Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic rival, is strongest in the big cities.

Hoover, however, is in the lead in the popular vote.

Straw polls taken in thirty-five of the forty-eight states in the Union give this result:

Hoover, 178,636.
Smith, 171,647.

While these figures indicate a neck-and-neck race, the bulk of the returns are from the thickly settled centers. Straws from the rural districts, now coming in, show Hoover running better there than Smith.

WOMEN VITAL FACTOR

The women are playing an important part in this year's contest. Hoover's pronouncement in favor of building up the American home and Smith's plea for modification of the dry law, it seems, kindled the old fires which had much to do with the enactment of the 18th Amendment.

Of the 125,209 women's votes cast to date, Hoover won 56.4 per cent and Smith, 43.6 per cent. In some of the States the women may be the determining factor in deciding which of the two candidates shall receive the electoral vote.

Smith, at present, holds 51.3 per cent of the total men's vote. Hoover has 48.7 per cent of them. Smith is the favorite son of his own New York city. Read these New York State figures:

	HOOVER	SMITH
New York city...	5,434	10,424
Adjoining counties	2,708	1,280
Syracuse area....	20,392	13,867
Albany area......	2,851	1,985
Rochester, Buffalo and Western New York	6,651	8,952

In the Pittsburgh district in Pennsylvania, Hoover polled 2190 to Smith's 2229, but in the rural neighborhoods Hoover ran 903 to Smith's 663. The sentiment in rock-ribbed Republican Philadelphia has not yet been canvassed.

HOOVER LEADS

Hoover is behind Smith in Baltimore, but sufficiently ahead of him in the 23 counties of Maryland to give Hoover the margin.

As indicated by the earlier returns, the election will probably be settled by the outcome of the battle in the eastern sector and along the Mason-Dixon line.

Hoover is sweeping the Pacific coast and the Middlewest. Smith is running ahead in the southern Democratic strongholds, with the exception of Florida and Texas. The latter shows a tie vote.

In the former, Hoover has polled a total of 2100, as against Smith's 1541. Such of these who voted four years ago gave Coolidge only 917, to Davis 1949.

Here is how the border states stand:

	Hoover	Smith
Tennessee	3468	2271
Kentucky	3369	3124
Missouri	1186	1403

The so-called corn belt revolt apparently has dwindled, for Hoover is leading in the early returns from Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and Nebraska.

Montana, which Senator Walsh claims for Smith, reflected this division of sentiment:

Hoover, 165; Smith, 55.

The Ohio vote was gathered in and around Toledo. It gave Hoover 216, Smith 174. Locally, Smith is ahead in Cook County, which includes Chicago, but lagging downstate.

HUB MAN IN BALLOT BATTLE FOR V. F. W. CHIEF

Indianapolis, Aug. 28 (AP)—Appointment of committees on legislation, Americanization and resolutions and the reading of reports constituted the main business today at the national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in session here.

Eugene P. Carver of Boston, senior vice-commander-in-chief, and H. N. Huff of Lansing, Mich., treasurer of the V. F. W. National Home, are candidates for commander.

The annual parade, with 15,000 participating, will be held tomorrow.

MEAN BURGLARS BURGLE BURGLARY SUSPECT'S HOME

They rubbed it in on Harold Lovell, who is of Webster st., Lynn, ordinarily, but of Charles st. jail temporarily. Lovell is in jail because of an alleged attempt at breaking and entering early yesterday. Also he is held in $5000 on a holdup charge. His wife is in Maine.

Today it was discovered that during Lovell's incarceration his own house has been burgled, but until Lovell gets out or Mrs. Lovell gets back, the loss cannot be estimated.

CLAIM MAN IN TOWER CAUSED DEATH OF 16

New York, Aug. 28 (INS)—A move to ascertain if there was a fourth man in the Times sq. signal tower of the Interborough Lines Friday when an express train, crashing through an open switch, killed 16 persons and injured 95 was begun today by Dist. Atty. Banton.

A special conference of the homicide bureau of Banton's office was called with George N. Brothers, assistant district attorney, presiding. After the meeting it was predicted at least three witnesses would be called to tell about the tower.

It is the contention of police that a motorman, with no right in the tower, entered it and left his train on a busy track and that he either threw the switch to protect his train or accidentally.

William A. Baldwin, maintenance of way man for the area, under arrest on a homicide charge, said when arrested that a motorman had been in the tower, but was unable to give his name. No trace of the motorman has been found.

Police were informed that men representing themselves as adjusters for the Interborough had been nagging victims and their relatives in efforts to bring about quick settlements of damage claims.

TO NAME SELF BRADFORD AS HONOR TO KIN

Within the shadow of the oldest university in the country lives a direct descendant of Gov. William Bradford, of Plymouth Colony, and he is proud of it.

This fact was brought to light through the filing at Middlesex Probate Court of a petition for a change of name.

The petitioner, who claims to be a direct descendant of one of the passengers in the Mayflower, is Bryant Ripley Dorr of 10 Prescott st., Cambridge.

Dorr requests the court to change his given name of Bryant to Bradford that he might perpetuate with his own name that of the famous governor of the Plymouth Colony.

Through his attorneys Dorr filed his petition August 3. The petition for the change in the name will be heard in Probate Court Sept. 10.

Mother and Sister See Father Kill His Son

Chicago, Aug. 28 (INS)—Arthur P. Falk, Northwest Park commissioner, shot and killed his son, Eldred, 22, at their home early today.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Olga Falk, and his sister, Bernice, 19, witnessed the tragedy.

The senior Falk went to the telephone and called police.

"May God have mercy on me. I have just killed my son. Please hurry over here," he said.

Police found all three members of the family too hysterical to give a coherent account of what happened.

Between sobs, the father said his son came home about 1 a. m. and admitted he had been drinking. A quarrel arose and the son threatened to leave the house.

"No, you don't," the older man is reported to have said. "You'll only leave here dead."

The son is said to have dared his father to shoot him. In a burst of rage, the father seized a shotgun and fired. The gun had been a present to young Falk from his father last Christmas.

Falk is prominent in politics in the northwest side.

SHOE UNION SEEKS WRIT TO CURB BAUER'S TALK

The Progressive Shoeworkers' Union of Lynn has filed in superior court at Salem a bill in equity seeking an injunction to restrain Mayor Bauer from barring them from holding public meetings in Lynn and to restrain the mayor from referring to members of the organization as "reds, communists and radicals." Judge Stanley E. Qua in superior court today issued an order of notice returnable Sept. 5 at Boston for the mayor to show cause why an order should not issue against him.

CURTISS FLYING CHIEF 'LOST' IN BUFFALO HOP

Curtiss Field, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Long Island flying centers were alarmed today at the non-appearance of M. M. Merrill, manager of the Curtiss Flying Service, who was reported to have left Buffalo yesterday and expecting to arrive early last evening.

Merrill, whose career in commercial flying has taken him to most parts of the country, went to Buffalo to bring back the plane of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, which had been left at Buffalo for minor adjustments.

At the field here it was said Merrill always took pains to notify his headquarters whenever he was delayed. He is known as a most cautious flier, although he has had several minor accidents, one of which left him with a weakened left leg.

"Casey" Jones, president of the Curtiss Flying Service, announced all Curtiss pilots had been called in, and all planes fueled in readiness for a statewide search if Merrill was not heard from soon. Officers at Mitchel Field, the Army airport close by Curtiss Field, offered planes for the search.

REOPENS FIGHT FOR $280,000 ALKY CARGO

Following the raising of a knotty legal point by defense counsel, Judge Lowell today took under advisement the case of the steamship Cretan, in which the Government is seeking to retain $280,000 obtained through public sale of the vessel's cargo of pure alcohol.

Dr. William F. Boos, Harvard Medical School toxicologist, testified that the alcohol, being 190 proof, was unfit for beverage purposes. He said a glassful would be fatal, while a tablespoonful would cause nausea.

Attorney William H. Lewis then argued that, even if the alcohol was illegally imported, it was not brought here for beverage purposes. This was the first time that the defense in a liquor case argued in Federal Court here that alcohol was not a beverage.

The attorney did not admit that it was illegally imported, contending that the Cretan put into port in distress without intent to land cargo. The vessel was seized by customs agents at Battery wharf July 7, 1928, and ever since has presented a problem to Government officials.

Education "Army" Returns

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Atlantic transport liner Minnekahda arrived today with 42 college professors, 178 teachers and 130 students returning from vacation trips abroad.

CAMPBELL OUT FOR CLERK OF COURTS

With the name of Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, former commander of the 26th Division, injected into the race for the nomination to succeed the late Louis A. Frothingham as member of Congress from the 14th District, the political situation became more interesting today.

John R. Campbell

Mrs. Mary Ames Frothingham, widow of the deceased representative, has eliminated himself as has Mayor Barbour of Quincy, but Allen Lawson of Braintree, former member of the Legislature, is very much in the fight.

A campaign committee covering every ward in Suffolk County has been organized to work for John R. Campbell, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the office of clerk of the Superior Criminal Court. Mr. Campbell, who has been attached to the office for 35 years in various capacities, is the present incumbent, having been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John P. Manning.

The State Department of Mental Diseases was attacked by Frank A. Goodwin, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, in an address before the members of the Beverly Republican city committee. He declared if elected to office one of his first acts would be to order a probe of the department.

Other speakers included Congressman A. Piatt Andrew, seeking renomination unopposed; Russell A. Wood and J. Ernest Kerr, candidates for nomination for State treasurer; Rev. F. W. Merrick of Beverly, speaking in behalf of the candidacy of John W. Haigis of Greenfield for State treasurer; Maj. Roland H. Choate, candidate for State auditor nomination; William J. McGinnis of Gloucester, candidate for the Governor's Council, and Clarence A. Barnes, candidate for the nomination for Attorney-General.

Senator Joseph Robinson, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, will speak in Boston Saturday afternoon, October 6, Chairman John L. Fitzgerald of the Democratic city committee announced. He said Judge Fuchs has given the use of Braves Field for a Democratic meeting at which Mayor James J. Walker of New York and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi will also talk.

* * *

Charging that the United States coast guard is demoralized and that the men who are not even American citizens are being used as coast guardsmen to enforce the prohibition laws, Edward M. Sullivan of the Boston school committee told members of the Holy Rosary Club, South Boston, that he would seek to have the entire coast service re-organized and again made one of real service for and by citizens. Sullivan is a candidate to succeed the late Congressman James A. Gallivan.

30 IN GARMENT WORKER STRIKE

The walkout of thirty girls at the Cable Raincoat Co., Northampton st., signalized today the beginning of a strike that may affect 1000 men and girl garment workers in 37 Greater Boston shops.

The girl operatives left their benches at 10 o'clock, the hour set by Sol Goldberg, business agent of local 24 of the Waterproof Garment Workers' Union.

As they reached the street and headed in groups toward headquarters on Essex st., where an organization meeting was held, the management of the concern put up window signs advertising jobs for double-needle operators.

The workers ask 30 per cent increase in wages. This, union officials said, would constitute only partial restoration of cuts made by employers last January. Certain changes in working conditions are also asked.

BLAKE CANDIDACY BOOMED AT MEETING

A lively meeting was held at the home of Alderman Thomas F. Mackey in Somerville in the interest of Robert A. Blake, candidate for representative in the 24th Middlesex District, comprising the first, third, fourth wards in Somerville.

Robert A. Blake
Oppenheim Phot

Mr. Blake is a former member of the Democratic ward and City Council, former secretary of the Democratic Central Council and a member of the Ward 3 Democratic Club.

He is a member of Mt. St. Benedict Council 73, K. of C., and is engaged in the real estate business in Somerville.

Navy Yard Questionnaires

Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, Commandant of the First Naval District, has received sets of questionnaires to be used by the Classified Civilian office force at the Boston Navy Yard, in connection with the reclassification of pay under the Welch bill passed by Congress last April.

COSTES HOPES TO FLY TO NEW YORK THIS WEEK

Paris, Aug. 28 (INS)—Capt. Dieudonne Costes, noted French airman, who, with Lieut.-Comdr. Joseph Lebrix, made a "four-continent flight," expects to hop off for New York before the end o the week. A request has already been cabled to Mitchell Field authorities to make preparations to receive the plane.

N. Y. Doctor Dies Abroad

London, Aug. 28 (INS —A verdict o death from natural causes was returned by the Westminster coroner who investigated the death of Dr. J. W. Cox, a wealthy resident of New York. He was found dead in a bathtub in the Savoy Hotel.

80 Labrador Sled Dogs on Way to Join Byrd

St, Alabns, Vt., Aug 28 (AP)—Between 80 and 100 sled dogs from Labrador that will be used by Commander Richard E. Byrd on his Antarctic expedition will be given customs clearance here Friday, customs officials said today.

The dogs are now en route to Quebec from Labrador by steamer. On their arrivals in Quebec they will be shipped in special cars to Norfolk, Va., where they will be put aboard the steamer City of New York which sailed from New York Saturday with supplies for the Byrd expedition.

Railway express officials said the huskies would be bonded through the United States to an unnamed port in New Zealand.

BISHOP CLEARS PRIESTS IN PLOT ON OBREGON

Mexico City, Aug. 28 (AP)—Emphatic denial that Catholic prelates or priests had anything to do with the assassination of General Obregon has been made by Monsignor Miguel Maria de la Mora, bishop of San Luos Potosi, who came out of hiding to talk with a group of American correspondents.

Monsignor de la Mora, who is spokesman for the Catholic bishops living in hiding in Mexico, expressed the opinion that Obregon's assassination has only delayed, not defeated efforts to settle the Mexican religious controversy. He met the correspondents by arrangement at a rendezvous near Mexico City.

The prelate declared that not more than twelve Catholic priests have participated in military movements against the government and that they have done so entirely of their own initiative. The majority of these priests went with the rebels as chaplains and did not carry arms, he said, adding that no archbishop bishop or priest has with the sanction of the church sustained the rebel movement in any form.

Monsignor de la Mora revealed that he is one of two Catholic archbishops and eleven bishops who have sought concealment in the country. Of the 4000 Mexican Catholic priests who were in the country at the time the religious controversy broke out only about 40 per cent remain, he said.

"Some of us have at times lived in five houses in three days," the churchman explained. "I myself have lived in at least six houses in the last two years."

He estimates that between fifty and one hundred Catholic priests have been killed in Mexico during the last two years. None had a trial and all were executed summarily, he said.

MABEL IS BOSS, SAYS LEVINE

London, Aug. 28 (AP)—Mabel Boll is the real commander-in-chief of the Junkers plane in which she, Charles A Levine and Bert Acosta hope to make the transatlantic East to West hop, Levine disclosed to the Associated Press today.

"This is entirely Miss Boll's venture," Levine said. "She organized the whole thing in America and I came over merely to help her purchase the plane. Of course, I'll fly back with her if she leaves in time. I must be back in America, for business reasons, by September 19, and if we can't take off before September 4 I must go by boat. I have made provisional arrangements on the Leviathan, sailing September 4."

Miss Boll will remain here until September 10 with Acosta, employed as pilot for the flight, Levine explained.

G. O. P. OFFERS BEST FARM PLAN, ASSERTS WATSON

Frankfort, Ind., Aug. 28 (AP)—United States Senator James E. Watson here today said his party has clearly outlined a means of solving the farm problem while the Democrats have yet to offer a concrete plan. He held there was only two ways of handling the crop surplus—to purchase it in accordance with the McNary bill and sell it abroad at whatever price can be obtained; or to take money directly from the treasury and buy the surplus, store it, until a shortage occurs, and then feed it into the market in accordance with the demand.

TWIN GIRLS BURIED ALIVE IN YARD AS "CHICKENS"

Monessen, Pa., Aug 28 (INS)—"Chickens" buried in the yard of Don Hlatky proved to be twin girl babies when health department agents, investigating on the strength of anonymous letters, dug them up.

Hlatky was held in Westmoreland County jail today and his wife was under guard in the Monongahela hospital. The coroner's jury recommended the parents be held for the grand jury. The jury's verdict stated the twins came to death through suffocation. Investigators said they probably were buried alive.

"CAT BURGLAR" SHOWS WHERE HE GOT LOOT

New York, Aug. 28 (INS)—With sly smirks and deft hints of the risk involved and skill necessary, Forest Hills' "cat burglar," who gave his name as Henry Coger, 25, showed police today more than 20 homes he had burglarized, from which he said he got $20,000 worth of loot. Most of the stolen goods has been recovered. He was captured in the home of Edwin R Gray, wealthy shipping man.

Open Kelly Death Trial

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 28 (INS)—With a jury of six men and six women selected, the trial of Leo P. Kelly charged with slaying Mrs Myrtle Mellus, society matron, was resumed today.

Mother's Plea Saves Son Who Beat Her From Prison

After telling a story which caused her son to be found guilty of assault and battery on her, a mother pleaded for him in South Boston court today and saved him from the House of Correction.

James Nelson, 27, of Winfield st., the son, was placed on probation until January 1 by Judge Logan, who told him if he came into court in the meantime for hitting anybody, he would go to jail for three months.

His mother declared he beat her and Judge Logan found on the records that Nelson had been in court before for battery on her and on his father.

Byrd Expedition CHOOSES Bokar Coffee

All foods for Polar Party subjected to rigid test! 2½ Tons of Bokar, Part of Byrd's Food Supply!

GOOD foods are on board the "City of New York," provision ship of the Byrd Expedition! Dr. Francis Coman, Dietetic expert of Johns Hopkins University, and Chief Steward Sidney Greason have picked them with care! They have been chosen for their wholesomeness . . . for their ability to fit men to withstand the rigors of the 70 degree below zero weather of the Antarctic!

And 2½ tons of Bokar Coffee, enough to brew 150,000 cups, are on board the "City of New York," out to sea and bound for the Antarctic.

In selecting Bokar the Chief Steward of the Polar party said, "From all the coffees available, the Byrd Expedition chose Bokar, because we had to have the best."

Try Bokar tonight! Find out to your delight why it is the one coffee of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition! Sold at all A&P stores in one-pound flavor-tight tins!

A load of Bokar at Tebo Yacht Basin, Brooklyn, where the Byrd Expedition ship, "City of New York," made preparations for the Antarctic dash.

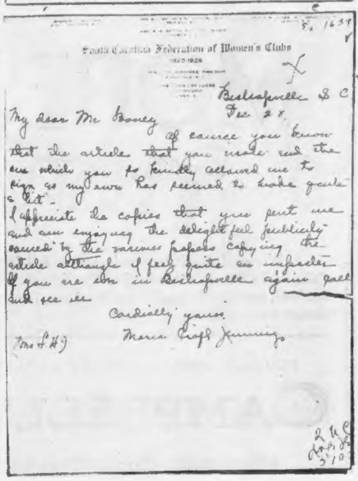
The Pathetic "Impostor"



South Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs

Bishopville S C
Dec 28

My dear Mr Boney
Of course you know that the article that you wrote and the one which you so kindly allowed me to sign as my own has seemed to make quite a "hit".
I appreciate the copies that you sent me and am enjoying the delightful publicity caused by the various papers copying the article although I feel quite an imposter.
If you are ever in Bishopville again call and see us

Cordially yours
Maria Croft Jennings
(Mrs L H)

THIS letter records how Mrs. L. H. Jennings, president of the South Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs, was "worked" by S. E. Boney, director of the North and South Carolina Public Utility Information Committee. That is the name of the propaganda organization which the electric light and power companies maintain down there with money collected from consumers of electric current.

It is Boney's practice, as he testified before the Federal Trade Commission, to write "news stories" boosting his electric light companies or discrediting public ownership, and then to have these articles signed by prominent men or women.

Boney then sends the articles to newspaper editors, who—so he told the Federal Trade Commission—publish them, thinking they are actually written by the persons whose names they bear, instead of being written by the propaganda bureau.

"Mrs. Jennings writes:

"Bishopville, S. C., Dec. 28.

"My dear Mr. Boney,

"Of course, you know that the article that you wrote and the one which you so kindly allowed me to sign as my own has seemed to make quite a 'hit.'

"I appreciate the copies that you sent me and am enjoying the delightful publicity caused by the various papers copying the article, although I feel quite an imposter. If you are ever in Bishopville again, call and see us.

"Cordially yours,
"Maria Croft Jennings,
"(Mrs. L. H.)"

The imposter was not Mrs. Jennings, but Boney and his North and South Carolina Public Utility Information Committee, and the press agents and the members of the 27 other State propaganda organizations covering 36 States in the Union, and the National Electric Light Association, and the Joint Committee of National Utility Associations, with its $400,000 slush fund being shoveled out to defeat the Boulder Dam bill.

Mrs. Jennings' part in the imposture is a small, if rather pathetic one.

Three Burned to Death

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 28 (AP)—Three persons lost their lives in a fire in their home today and two were so badly injured they may die. The dead are Joseph Klalman and wife and Sam Morris. Two other children are in a critical condition and another is less seriously injured.

SEARS ROEBUCK PLANS TOLD BY C. M. HENRY

With the addition of its new store on Brookline ave. opening this week, Sears Roebuck and Co. will place two big up-to-date, conveniently located retail department stores and a mail order store, with 35,000 items of merchandise, at the service of the community and the New England states.

C. M. Henry of the vice-president's office of the company, will be head of the entire Sears Roebuck organization in New England. Under his charge will come all of the company's interests in New England, the retail department stores, at Porter sq., Cambridge, and Brookline ave., Boston, and the great mail order store in the new building.

In charge of the Cambridge and Boston retail department stores will be W. R. Mapes, a former resident of Cambridge.

TO BE MANAGER

C. S. Williams, a Boston man, will be manager of the department store in the Brookline ave. building, and C. M. Lafferty will be in charge of the store already opened at Porter sq., Cambridge. W. G. Kees, is operating superintendent of the Mail Order Store. B. W. McKeown, who came here from Sears, Roebuck and Co.'s Philadelphia store, will be in charge of all merchandise in New England. Altogether, the Sears Roebuck Co. organization will number over 2500 persons.

"I look forward with great pleasure to my future in New England," said General Manager Henry, "because it is a pleasure to do business with New England people."

For a number of years as you know, we have had thousands of customers in New England through the mail order division of our house, and have found them very appreciative of good values.

"It is, in fact, this attitude toward us that was an important factor in Sears Roebuck and Co.'s decision to come right into this territory to save our New England clientele money on transportation of mail orders, to give quicker service, and to place directly before them, through fine retail stores, the best of the market's commodities at prices which Sears Roebuck and Co. can afford to offer.

SOLD FROM COUNTER

"Our retail department stores are regular department stores in every sense of the word. They derive the advantage of the entire Sears-Roebuck organizations purchasing power in the matter of prices, but the goods are sold right from the counter, just as any other department store.

"Why did we locate our retail department stores out of the center of the city? The answer is this:

"Nowadays people use motor cars. They do not like to get into heavy traffic, do not like to drive down town. At our stores, we can and do, provide the inestimable convenience of free parking space where our customers can park their cars in safety while they shop."

Two Policewomen Are Ordered to Answer Roll Call Today

Chief Inspector Ainsley C. Armstrong of the bureau of criminal investigation inaugurated a new procedure today when the two policewomen assigned to his division of the police department were forced to answer roll call with the inspectors at headquarters.

The women, Mrs. Irene Bohmback and Miss Irene McAuliffe, were on hand promly at 9 o'clock and answered to their names when they were called.

This was the first time since the assignment of women to the detective bureau that they have been forced to answer roll call with the men. Chief Armstrong refused to comment, but it was understood the action was taken so that no charge of laxness could be brought against him.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

TWO MEN MISS DEATH IN DIVE

Plunging 30 feet to the ground when the ladder on which they were working slipped its lashings, two men missed death today. They are Timothy and Charles Hanley of 61 Fayette st., Cambridge. They were painting the outside of a house at 35 Hudson st. at the time of the accident.

They were found lying unconscious on the ground by a maid in the house which they were repairing. She summoned aid and the men were taken to the Cambridge City Hospital, where they were found suffering from a severe shock.

STOLEN YACHT IDENTIFIED

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 28 (AP)—The yacht Golden Bloom, seized at Liverpool, N. S., Sunday by port officers when her owner could not show ownership or sailing papers, has been identified as the missing Tertia, stolen at Gloucester, Mass., in July.

A. S. Wagner, bridegroom of three days, who gave his address as New York, is held in jail pending an inquiry. He was the only person aboard when officials visited the craft.

The boat was identified as the Tertia by E. C. Sollows of Canadian Fairbanks Morse, who found the engine numbers on the Golden Bloom were the same as those of the missing Gloucester craft. The Tertia's engines were installed by his company.

The Tertia is owned by Alexander C. Toner of Sewickley, Pa., a summer resident of Gloucester.

G. O. P. MAGNATE OF NEW JERSEY FAVORS SMITH

New York, Aug. 28 (INS)—Govrnor Al Smith was back at his otel here, today, after one of the nost remarkable experiences of his ong political career.

It was estimated that more than million persons cheered him durng his week-end in New Jersey, ecause of demonstrations in varius cities on his return trip. Demoratic leaders who previously had redicted the nominee would carry he state by 200,000 raised their igures to 400,000.

"Al Smith will sweep New Jersey s no candidate ever has done beore," declared Mayor Frank Hague, f Jersey City, Democratic leader f the state.

Before returning to New York, mith is understood to have reeived assurances of support from homas M. McCarter, president of he Public Service Corporation and ne of the leading Republican capialists of New Jersey. Smith had long conference with McCarter nd his brother, Usel McCarter, ormer Republican attorney-general f New Jersey, following a dinner t the home of William H. English t Middletown.

Close friends predicted that withn a short time the McCarters would nnounce that they intended to upport the Democratic nominee in e coming campaign.

Governor Al Smith will attend a arm dinner in Syracuse tomorrow ight and on Thursday will deliver non-political speech at the State air. Before going to the fair rounds on Thursday the Governor ill attend a meeting of the Demoratic State committee at which M. Villiam Bray of Utica will be elect d state chairman to succeed Lieut.-ov. Edwin Corning of Albany.

Curtis Opens N. Y. Drive With Plea for Farm Vote

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 28 (INS)—enator Charles Curtis, Republican andidate for vice-president, in a peech at the State fair grounds ere, today, fired the opening gun n the G. O. P. campaign to capure New York State, Governor l Smith's own bailiwick, by conrasting the Republican record on arm relief legislation with that of he Democrats.

He pointed out what he, personaly, did in behalf of the agriculturats of the country.

The vice-presidential nominee told he assembled farmers that when he federal farm loan board was nable to meet the demands upon t for loans he introduced a bill uthorizing the government to purhase $50,000,000 of the bonds which nabled it to resume loaning on farm roperty. The bill was passed and igned by President Harding.

309 of 531 Electoral Votes for Smith, Raskob's Claim

St. Louis, Aug. 28 (AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, today took up he campaign problems of eight middle western states, four of which he characterized in an election forecast as "fighting ground" and four as states certain to cast their electoral votes for Governor Smith.

Democratic leaders of Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Tennessee and Iowa were prepared to lay their problems before the chairman.

Raskob and many other Democrats will depart Wednesday night for Hot Springs, Ark., to attend the notification ceremonies for Senator Joe T. Robinson, vice-presidential nominee.

In a formal statement, Raskob claimed Governor Smith would receive 309 of the 531 electoral votes with at least an even chance of carrying states having a total of 38 additional votes. This would run the Smith total to 347, or 81 more than a majority.

KILLS 3, WOUNDS 2 IN JEALOUSY

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 28 (AP)—An orgy of murder that lasted several hours and left three men dead and two wounded, one probably fatally, was ascribed by police here today to the insane jealousy of a former convict over the affections of his estranged wife and the custody of his little daughter.

The suspected slayer, Percy T. Barnes, 35, calmly surrendered.

The victims of the muderous attack were two brothers-in-law of Barnes and a cousin by marriage.

The wounded were Clarence Nuney who had been visiting at the home of Mrs. Della Barnes, and H. H. Larkin, president of a transportation company, who apparently was an innocent bystander.

Witnesses said Barnes started the trouble by going to the home of his wife and, on finding Nuney there, engaged in a quarrel with him. Then Barnes apparently went to his brother-in-law's home, where his daughter is being kept pending final disposal of the divorce case. He was said to have demanded the little girl. The third murder was committed in the street.

MEXICAN LABOR HEAD QUITS HIDING PLACE

Mexico City, Aug. 28 (INS)—After being in hiding since the assassination of Presiden-elect Alvara Obregon, former Minister of Labor and Commerce Luis N. Morones appeared in public today. Morones, who was connected with the Mexican Regional Federation of Labor, was a bitter political enemy of Obregon, who was affiliated with the Agrarian party.

Morones' appearance caused much surprise as it had been reported he had fled to Europe. The Laborite emerged from his hiding place to greet a Japanese labor leader who is visiting Mexico.

Today, in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads, you will find scores of opportunities for profitable investment.

HOOVER URGED TO SPEAK IN BAY STATE

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—Continuing conferences with Republican campaign managers in the East, Herbert Hoover today was assembling information upon which to base a decision as to the extent he will participate personally in the presidential fight there.

William H. Hill, chairman of the New York State Hoover committee, had an engagement with the Republican standard bearer to supplement the advices given him yesterday by Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman for New York, and Daniel E. Pomeroy, vice-chairman of the New Jersey committee.

Reports received by Hoover since his return from the West indicate that the eastern situation is one requiring attention and his advisers are urging him to go into New York, Massachusetts and New Jersey for at least one speech for each state and more if time can be found for them.

After h ehas canvassed the eastern situation he will be in a position to fairly well map out his campaign up to election time. It is certain that he will take advantage of his swing back to his home in California to vote for making a series of addresses.

Should Hoover decide to make a Labor Day address next Monday, it will be in Washington, with a radio hookup, i was stated today at his office. However, the candidate thinks the time is too short for the preparation of an address.

CUSTOMS 'NAVY' FOR NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 28 (INS)—Customs officials today are making preparations to put into force a customs enforcement unit for the port of New York consisting of 129 men and eight patrol boats, to be put into operation here Saturday.

The new patrol boats, carrying machine guns and having a speed of 22 miles an hour, will be used to check narcotics and diamond smuggling in the waters of this vicinity. The unit will be the largest of its kind in the United States.

"GOOD SAMARITAN" STUNG; SOMERVILLE BOY HELD

Accused of taking a suit of clothes, topcoat, cap, silk shirt, tie, wrist watch, gold pencil and $8 in cash from a man who befriended him, Herbert Carroll, 19, of Charles st., Somerville, was held in $2000 bail for the Grand Jury today in municipal court.

Ralph Murphy of Cortes st. testified that hme believed Carroll was a destitute veteran and invited him to his room to give him an old suit. The defendant asserted that he took only what given him.

Coolidge to Swing Axe on U. S. Expenses

Superior, Wis., Aug. 28 (AP)—Concerned by estimates compiled by the bureau of the budget, forecasting a treasury deficit of $94,000,000 at the end of the current fiscal year, President Coolidge intends as soon as he gets back to Washington to take vigorous measures to cut down expenses.

He will appeal to this end to the heads of all departments and Government bureaus and thereby hopes to reduce materially the estimated deficit.

Likelihood of a deficit at the end of the present year probably will affect budget estimates now being compiled for the fiscal year 1930.

During his stay at the Summer White House over the week-end, Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, reported satisfactory conditions in the army to President Coolidge. Enlistments, he said, were abundant and provided a good class of recruits.

PRINCE OF WALES OFF FOR AFRICA SEPT. 6

Aberdeen, Scotland, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Prince of Wales appeared in kilts today before a great crowd which watched him lay the cornerstone of a new hospital here. This was his last official engagement in Great Britain before leaving with his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, on an African tour. The Prince and his brother will leave London September 6 for Egypt and intend to remain in Africa until early in January.

OFFERS SMITH PLAN TO WIN DURANT'S $25,000

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—Among the competitors for the $25,000 offered by W. C. Durant for the best plan for enforcing the Volstead act is John H. McCooey, Democratic leader of Brooklyn. He has made to the committee in charge that portion of Governor Smith's acceptance speech dealing with prohibition. "I am sure it will win," he said.

U. S. WOMAN PARIS 'GATE CRASHER'

SEIZED IN FEMINIST OUTBREAK

Rambouillet, France, Aug. 28 (AP)—Doris Stevens, American feminist leader was taken into custody by the police today when she and several other feminists tried to "crash the gate" at the presidential chateau here to present an equal rights petition to President Doumergue.

In addition to Miss Stevens the police [illegible] one other woman. Both were [illegible] released.

The group [illegible] a demonstration outside [illegible] gate [illegible] to the [illegible] which the plenipotentiaries [illegible] signed the Kellogg-Briand [illegible] were at lunch with the President.

Miss Stevens is chairman of the committee on [illegible] of the [illegible] United States. For [illegible] the committee has been trying to [illegible] the treaty signers to give them "an hour" in which to set forth their arguments for an equal rights treaty.

The women unfurled a banner bearing the inscription "We demand a treaty giving women their rights." They also waved American and French flags.

They tried to march through the gateway to the chateau close by but were stopped by officers of the chateau guards who offered to take their petition to the chateau.

The feminists insisted they wanted to go in and present the petition to President Doumergue themselves but the guards barred the way and as the [illegible] continued the officer in charge of the guards demanded that Miss Stevens and her most active companion show their identification [illegible].

The guards [illegible] the aid of police then [illegible] the banners and Miss Stevens and her companion were taken to the police commissariat.

LYNNERS WON'T PARLEZ VOUS, SO HE'S LOST

Berwick, Me., being unlike Lynn, it took Raymond Gauthier of Berwick some time to get to his boarding house today.

It took Officer Asa Darsney of Lynn some time also. Both speak French which didn't do them any good except to each other.

Gauthier came from Berwick Sunday and got a job in a factory Monday. It was perhaps the only factory in Lynn where the foreman speaks French.

After leaving the factory yesterday, Gauthier got a room in Ireson st., then went for a walk. Everything was excellent while he walked away from his lodgings, but when he started back and tried to find them, he was lost.

He asked 50 people in Central sq. for directions, the difficulty in receiving them lying in the fact that none of the queried spoke French. Gauthier knows no English.

Then Patrolman Darsney sighted Gauthier stopping people. The officer speaks French and Gauthier confided his trouble. But he knew neither the name of Ireson st. nor the direction in which it lay.

So they wandered—and wandered—and wandered, with great fluency. Eventually Gauthier spied the factory in which he worked all day. They laid a trail from there—and wandered—and wandered—and wandered.

At 3 a. m. they stumbled into the correct street. Darsney kissed weary finger tips at Gauthier's disappearing back. Then the officer dragged wearily to headquarters, determined to forget French.

BOY OF 14 IN SOLO FLIGHT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28—Joseph Garside, 14, of Milton, Mass., is declared by aviation experts here today to have achieved the honor of being one of the youngest persons ever to fly alone.

Joseph did fly alone. The boy after arriving here on a flight with his instructor from North Carolina was given the opportunity he had begged for.

He was "turned loose" on Hoover field. He took off perfectly, zooming away nobly and after circling in the air a number of times, he descended making a perfect landing. Thus he got his spurs.

With his instructor L. E. Shoser he later flew toward North Carolina where he has been visiting his sister at Rockingham.

"I intend to make aeronautics my profession," Joseph said. "My mother has no objection to my flying, as she believes it is no more dangerous than any other form of travel."

THE Rand home was at the northern [illegible] that stately thoroughfare which runs [illegible] of trees at the edge of Manor Park's [illegible].

Diana waited till her friend disappeared [illegible] high stone wall which shut the grounds [illegible] from the vulgar gaze of what proletarian [illegible] wander into this section of wealth and exclusiveness [illegible] down her engine drove slowly [illegible] the illusion that North mountain, at which the street brings up eventually, was approaching in a friendly [illegible] to hang over her head as she swung into the drive.

Red leaf maples blazed against evergreens here. The girl wrinkled her nose as the mingled sweetness of syringa roses blew into her face. With a little thrill of content she glanced at the house, sprawling low-lying gray-stone building with the last rays of the sun striking its windows. Dozens and dozens of windows [illegible] flung wide to the light. Happy windows in a happy home [illegible].

But her eyes caught movement, a motor disappearing around a bend and a tall man going slowly up the steps. With a glad little shriek of "Dad!" she jammed the roadster to a stop in a shower of gravel and went tearing across the lawn, hugging her heavy parcel.

"Daddy! Wait, daddy!"

The tall man came back, she caught up his daughter, parcel and all and kissed the top of her curly head. A largeness in the gesture, something of [illegible] good nature and complete understanding, impossible that the small girl and her father could be anything but pals [illegible] despite the gray [illegible].

"Must be something important when the Princess [illegible] A little [illegible] Let me take it, Sun[illegible]."

SARAH ELLEN PALMER, IF PREVIOUSLY made plans are being followed, is now on the high seas aboard the steamship Rotterdam bound [illegible] Dr. Palmer has been doing France thoroughly, an old stamping ground of hers. Spain also has been seen from coast to coast and via medieval cities, the pilgrimage made brilliant by the favor of royal friendships. In Paris Dr. Palmer met the Infanta of Spain, Eulalia, a delightful royalty who is also an authoress. Later in Madrid cards of introduction to the Infanta's son, H. R. H. the Infante Alfonso D'Orleans, paved the way for royal preference and entertainment for Dr. Palmer and her party.

THE PALMER ITINERARY ACROSS FRANCE and Spain neglects not one of the fascinating places the many-colored travel folders tell of so alluringly. Cordova and Seville, Barcelona and Leon; Toledo for the great Cathedral; San Sebastian, Saint Jean de Luz; high and remote villages of the Pyrenees [illegible] great rewards in that line. Her trip abroad this year has been of several months' duration, and included [illegible] countries.

And that's why the new ballroom [illegible] same time appealing to the aesthetic sense.

This information was gleaned today at the 50th annual convention of the American Society of Teachers of Dancing.

"Pickin' cotton" is the new dance that's coming in for a lot of attention. It's the latest on Broadway, and the dancing masters were giving it a try-out this morning.

You shuffle a bit, glide, lift your feet, tap once or twice, bend as if picking cotton, come to an erect position, away and then fox trot away.

Adolph Newberger has a humorous dance which he calls "The Byrd Hope." It depicts Commander Richard E. Byrd's get away for the South Pole. It is quite zippy indeed as the dancers doing it must [illegible]

U. S. CATHOLICS ARRIVE IN AUSTRALIA FOR CONGRESS

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 28 (AP)—Ecclesiastics and laymen of the Catholic church are pouring into Sydney to attend the Eucharistic congress next week. Today's arrivals include Fathers Rengel, Don[illegible] the United States and Fathers Lassard, Martel and Caron of Canada. Picturesque scenes will mark arrival of the Pontifical delegation headed by Cardinal Bonaventura Cerretti Thursday. SEVEN LOST AS PLANE DROPS INTO PUGET SOUND

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 28 (AP)—Seven persons, instead of six previously reported, apparently were carried to their death when the Victoria-Seattle passenger airplane [illegible] over the waters of Puget Sound.

Search for the plane lagged as the conviction grew among aviators searching for the ship that the plane had plunged into the sound. Practically every square mile of land in which the plane might have crashed has been covered.

RADIOS AND AUTOS HIT FRATERNAL ORDERS

Tiffin, O., Aug. 28 (AP)—Membership in fraternal orders is being hard hit by the automobile and the radio, according to State Senator William A. [illegible], Urbana, O.

"The former lodge man now takes his family automobile riding or remains home to listen to the radio instead of going to lodge meetings," [illegible] State organizer for the Junior Order United American Mechanics, said in his report to the State convention here today.

16 Teams in Second Round of National Doubles

BOSTON ERICAN SPORTS
SPEED … NEWS THE DAY IT HAPPENS

Honeyboy Finnegan fights Bruce Flowers tonight at Braves Field. Flowers won over Finnegan some time ago. Honeyboy is anxious to win this scrap. A title bout with Sammy Mandell awaits Finnegan if he wins.

UPSETS LIKELY TODAY IN TITLE TENNIS

LONGWOOD DOUBLES MATCHES TODAY

George Lott and John Hennessey, America, vs. Ricardo Tapia and A. Unda, Mexico.

Jack Wright and Williard Crocker, Canada, vs. Harry Hopman and Jack Crawford, Australia.

R. N. Williams and Watson Washburn, America, vs. Fred and Don Dixon, America.

H. W. Austin and J. C. Gregory, England, vs. J. Brugnon and H. Cochet, France.

John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, America, vs. William Aydelotte and P. G. Rockafellow, America.

R. O. Cummings and E. F. Moon, Australia, vs. Jean Borotra and R. De Buzelet, France.

Arnold Jones and Arthur Ingraham, America, vs. T. O. Ryall and George Shields, America.

John Doeg and Wilbur Coen, America, vs. Gerald Patterson and Jack Hawkes, Australia.

The second round of the national doubles is played at the Longwood Cricket Club today, and, unlike the first round matches in which not one upset occurred, it seems as though some of the seeded teams will be knocked out of the running.

Eight matches will be played, starting at 2:30, and some wonderful tennis, with the world's best fighting for the national title, is bound to result.

One of the best looking matches on [illegible] R. O. Cummings and E. F. Moon [illegible] Jean Borotra and Rene De Buzelet, the Frenchmen, fourth seeded team of the [illegible].

Cummings and Moon won from [illegible] and James Quick in [illegible] Buzelet [illegible] a favorite.

FRENCHMEN FORCED

[illegible] partner were pushed to the limit [illegible] first round [illegible] Higgs and [illegible] of England.

This match was not over until [illegible]. Doubtless the effect of this grueling match will show today and Moon and Cummings may benefit.

Higgs and [illegible] took the first two sets from Borotra and Buzelet both by scores of [illegible]. It seemed to the gathering watching this match that the French team would be the victims of an upset.

But they came back to win the third set 6-3, and battled their way through the fourth to win [illegible] the longest match of the day and likely of the tournament. Borotra and De Buzelet won the fifth set and the match by 6-4.

COCHET-BRUGNON STRONG

Cochet and Brugnon, disposing of Ken Appel and [illegible] have another match against H. W. Austin and J. C. Gregory of England that doesn't seem to promise much opposition.

Cochet is playing more [illegible] at present [illegible] the best of his career. Brugnon, although slightly erratic in the first day's play, should be a lot more accurate today.

America faces Mexico in another interesting match today. Ricardo Tapia and A. Unda [illegible] R. De Buzelet of France, meet the star native duo George Lott and John Hennessey, Davis Cup team members. This match seems to [illegible].

John Doeg and Wilbur Coen, Bill Tilden's protege, will meet the veteran Anzacs, Gerald Patterson and Hawkes. Hawkes and Patterson had little trouble with Malcolm Hill and Henry Johnston, rated as the best doubles players in this vicinity. Doeg and Coen won by default from Bryan Grant and Maior Coorts.

TILDEN IS SPECTATOR

Bill Tilden is an interested spectator at the matches. He is noticed plenty and is chased by numerous autograph hounds as he bustles about to the different courts covering all the matches for a newspaper syndicate. Tilden has nothing more to say about the U. S. L. T. A., but is waiting for some hope of reinstatement. In the meantime he's very busy dodging a barrage of cameramen who trail him about.

The National Mixed Doubles begin today. The draw will be completed this afternoon and the women players are due to arrive some time today. Miss Wills and Jack Hawkes will be the favorite team in the mixed doubles and likely to be seeded number one.

Three Jockeys Injured at Saratoga Track

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 28 (INS)—Three jockeys [illegible] are in the hospital here today as a result of one of the most serious turf accidents in recent years.

The accident occurred during the Vermont steeplechase yesterday afternoon. Fair Class with W. Masters up, stumbled at the jump in front of the clubhouse, pitching Masters over his head. As Masters tried to get up Fair Class trod over him and dashed riderless after the field.

At the turn Fair Class cut across the infield and dashed into the field near a hedge, running into Star Pansy, ridden by F. Thorndike and Uppercut, piloted by C. Ludwig. The impact threw both riders out of their saddles.

Sam Merwin Flays U.S.L.T.A. Ruling

By Associated Press

Samuel Merwin, author and close follower of tennis, today denounced the action of the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association in barring William T. Tilden, 2nd, from amateur competition because of alleged violation of the player-writer rule, in a statement in which he called for common sense, fair play and a sense of humor.

"It seems to me," Merwin told the Associated Press today, "high time for someone to speak up with a little plain sense on this Tilden business.

[illegible]

"This position [illegible] the reasoning [illegible] to be [illegible] a question of amateurism [illegible] America is a subtle and complicated problem which the [illegible] of the U. S. L. T. A. have not comprehensively faced. It is, I should say, political. Their [illegible] initial attack [illegible] until President Collom and Chairman Wear were out on the seas, could not fail to disgust those who knew even a little of the conditions. There are men [illegible] in power in the United States Lawn Tennis Association who [illegible] resuming the reins. 66 WOMEN IN TORONTO SWIM

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 28 (AP)—Sixty-six of the world's leading women long distance swimmers were ready today to pit their speed and endurance against the cold waters and tricky currents of Lake Ontario in the first part of the double-barrelled Wrigley "marathon" at the Canadian National Exhibition tomorrow.

The women aquatic stars will race over a ten mile course the first five to qualify for the $25,000 15 mile [illegible] event on September 5 in which men will participate.

Experts have established Gertrude Ederle, first woman to swim the English Channel and Ethel Hertle of New York, as co-favorites in the 10-mile "marathon." Miss Hertle swam 14 miles in the 1927 event won by Ernest Vierkotter of Germany and was not far behind the leaders when the icy waters forced her to give up.

First prize in the women's event is $10,000 with five more, four finishers also figuring in the money.

Carl Mays May Sign Up With Giants

LOW HANDICAPS BEAT PAIR

Manchester-by-the-Sea, Aug. 28—Mrs. S. M. Felton and Mrs. S. R. Small, one of the low handicapped pairs, were beaten in the first Invitation four ball tournament conducted for them by the Essex County Club.

Mrs. Felton and Mrs. Small tried to give away too many strokes to Miss S. B. Stiles and Mrs. R. C. Curtis and lost by 2 and 1.

Miss Stiles and Mrs. Curtis today meet Miss Margaret Curtis and Mrs. D. M. [illegible] and once more they will receive a generous allowance in strokes.

The participants in the tournament will be [illegible] guests at Miss Curtis'.

Walker-Emanuel Bout Drew $50,000

San Francisco, Aug. 28 (AP)—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, made a successful entry into the light heavyweight ranks last night when he scored a sensational knockout over Armand Emanuel, San Francisco, in the seventh round of their 10-round bout. Two short right-handers did the trick.

A few months ago Emanuel gave Tomy Loughran a great battle losing a close decision. A crowd of approximately 20,000 persons paid around $50,000 to see the fight.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"I WISH to present my candidate for the honor of the 'Most Valuable Baseball Player for 1928,'" said Mr. Boston as he helloed the gang today. "Step forward Big Ed Morris, Red Sox pitcher, so that everybody can get a peek at you

"How does the kid look to you [illegible] not go out and do a [illegible] experts [illegible] the most valuable piece of baseball [illegible]

[illegible] he likes it. [illegible]

"FRED LANE tells me Morris reminds him of James, Rudolph and Tyler of the 1914 Braves. I cannot understand how a youthful bird like Freddy can remember that far back, but anyhow the comparison is a good one

"James, Tyler and Rudolph alternated in the box for the Braves with Otto Hess kicking in with a ball game when the club bumped into a double-header. They proved that two days' rest is all that a good pitcher needs.

"Morris says he does his most effective sharpshooting when in there every third day. His 17 wins prove he knows what he is talking about

"Ed likes to hurl a full game every third day, but he hasn't got any objections to finishing out a couple of pastimes in the meanwhile.

"WHEN Morris cannot get on the box, he drops around to the [illegible] That's something new in baseball

"THE Red Sox are always keeps in the midst of action. When not pitching [illegible] lines or leading a [illegible]

"[illegible] The boys seem [illegible] chucking them [illegible] him regardless of who [illegible]

"WHEN Morris licked the White Sox for the first time, the Chicago players kept calling him 'cousin.' They figured on getting under the big fellow's skin.

"Later in the season after Morris had tacked another defeat on to the White Sox he paraded into their dressing room and in a loud tone declared, 'You fellows are no cousins of mine.'

"That knocked the opposition as flat as the family bank roll after a vacation.

"NOW that he knows the league Morris should be even a more valuable asset to the Carrigans next year. Big Ed, MacFayden, Ruffing [illegible] into one of [illegible]

"Smooth skin instantly attracts," says Victor Fleming, PARAMOUNT director

"Every screen star realizes how vitally important this beauty is. Her skin must have real loveliness under the close-up lights."

A QUICK throb of emotion—you catch your breath at the flower-like beauty of smooth, soft skin.

Screen stars unfailingly possess this loveliness which makes the close-up's appeal irresistible. Motion picture directors insist on skin so perfect that the pitiless close-up lights reveal only alluring beauty. Screen stars know smooth skin is vital to their career.

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap. There are in Hollywood 433 important actresses, including all stars. 417 of these use this fragrant, white soap.

All the great film studios have made it the official soap in their dressing rooms.

"Many girls lacking great beauty, but possessing lovely skin, have passed on the road to fame women with perfect features. Lux Toilet Soap is a great help in keeping the skin smooth and lovely."

MARION DAVIES

TAKE a tip. Listen to what's in the air. Wherever you go they're chuckling over merry Marion Davies. What a picture. The funniest in years—bar none. Marion shows a vampire a few tricks at her own game and wins the man by a technique all her own. Broadway loved this stage play. You'll see it on the screen now—and you'll cheer it. Honestly, it's just one long, loud laugh. Miss your breakfast, lunch or dinner today if you must, but don't miss—

Money Love; Pat Sends Back Everything

CHAPTER 48

TILL nurse came running down the stairs.

[illegible]

He's sent back everything that could remind him of me," Lily said to herself.

That was exactly what he had done.

He had sent back not only her old clothes [illegible] a cheap hot water bottle that he had bought for her one night when she had had the backage from a [illegible] day's cleaning.

Looking at it Lily remembered how gentle and tender he had been that night. . . . Yes, he had been nice sometimes, hadn't he? And when he was nice, Pat could be so much more adorably nice than anybody else on earth, she kept thinking, as she blinked hard to keep back the tears.

"Shall we carry it upstairs? I think we can. It's very light," the nurse suggested, and Lily nodded her head.

She might just as well have it upstairs, put away in the trunkroom with all the rest of the dusty old boxes and suitcases and broken trunks that stood there year after year, she decided.

"For I'll never go back to him after this," she was sure. "This is the last straw as well as the one that broke the camel's back. This is the end—when he realizes it as plain as this that he hates me! When even the sight of my magazines and water bottle is unbearable to him."

At the end of January, when Mr. and Mrs. Lexington came back from Hot Springs, Lily was as much at home in the old house as she even had been in the days before her [illegible]

[illegible] laughed off the idea that there might possibly be something wrong with him.

"Just old age," he said humorously, and then he bent over her and kissed her [illegible]

"Well [illegible] came back," he went on, patting her head just as if she were still four or five years old. "And as soon as we heard about it we [illegible] haste—"

His wife turned on him furiously angry in a second. "That's right, start coddling and petting her again!" she advised him with sarcasm in her voice and her large featured face [illegible]

[illegible] fore, and just see how she dis[illegible]

[illegible]

"If I want to go back to Pat it's my own affair," she said to herself, and all at once she knew that she wanted to do it. Even now, after he had sent back all her clothes to her as if he never wanted to see her again. Even now after this month [illegible]

[illegible] threw herself down across the lace-draped bed in her own room with her face buried in the pillows, too [illegible]

She heard the door open and her mother came across the room to her. She bent over her and put her arms around her.

"My dearest, I didn't mean to scold you the first minute I saw you," she said, holding her close to her silk-covered bosom. "Don't cry like this—Mother and Daddy are [illegible]

[illegible] as a glass of lake water.

An hour later her mother, coming back to her room for a nice motherly talk, found her packing a suitcase.

She had taken off the expensive black dress [illegible] colored suit that was part of her trousseau.

The suitcase was filled with the [illegible] from the little honeymoon flat, and she was laying the hot water bottle on the top of them. She stroked it [illegible] she were very fond of it.

"Why, where ARE you going?" asked Mrs. Lexington, her bosom [illegible] she knew!

"Back to my husband," Lily told her very quietly. "I had just about forgotten how much I cared about him until you started talking about him again, and calling him 'that France.' He's not 'that France.' [illegible] I'm going home." She snapped the case shut.

Then, at the door of the room, she turned and looked back at her mother. "You wouldn't let both him and me live here, would you?" she asked wistfully. "It would be [illegible] . . . And Pat's hardly ever at home during the week. You'd hardly have to see him around the house—I [illegible] the thought of going back to that cook stove and washing machine, and the food chopper and the ice box."

Correct Manners

ON GREETING OUR ELDERS

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. A few days ago a friend and I were sitting on our lawn when our clergyman and his wife drove up. They are not old people, but I have read somewhere that one always [illegible] an older person, so I did. My friend did not. Neither [illegible] when I introduced them. Was this [illegible] or is it just a matter of preference?

2. When I made the introductions I presented my friend to our pastor and his wife. I have felt that this wasn't quite right, but my friend and I [illegible] READER.

NO, this is not a matter of preference. You did [illegible] to arise for two reasons: first, because you were the hostess on this occasion, and second, because you were younger than the woman whom you were greeting and who was standing. For your friend not to rise was most unmannerly of her. She should have risen when her hostess rose and she should have risen because the other woman was older. Instinctively your friend should have risen, and I am happy to know that your instinct made [illegible]

2. You did right to present your friend to the pastor's wife, but you should have presented the pastor to her. "Mrs. Pastorswife, this is Miss Mary Allen," and "Miss Allen, may I present Mr. Pastor."

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I should deeply appreciate it if you would please advise me the significance of the following remark, "If the cap fits you, wear it," and its usage:

This statement has been the basis for much debating and since no satisfactory understanding has been reached, I am taking the liberty of referring the matter to you as an authority. S. B. W.

"IF the cap fits wear it," is usually interpreted as meaning that if something has been said that is or may be appropriate to the person to whom this statement is addressed, the person should apply it to himself or herself. I think that usually there is a thrust in the statement, usually a disagreeable connotation. For instance, if in an argument a person makes some statement that seems to signify that a certain more or less disagreeable thing is true of him or her, another person, the other person may (if he or she isn't too agreeable or pleasant) say, "Well, if the cap fits you, wear it." Or, "If the shoe fits you, wear it."

Fads and Fancies

Girls, glance at your garters, and see if they exactly match the shade of your stockings, as this is one of Fall's dictates. Beige and brown shades, and simplicity of decoration are featured.

The younger set strut their stuff in gay silk bandannas which they wear around their heads, and tied in back. The bandanna is an interesting substitute for the ever present small sport hat, and adds a colorful note to the sport get-up.

Reversing the situation, an evening wrap of black velvet lined with white satin can change roles and appear alternately as lining or as the exterior.

Oil and water may not mix, but rhinestones and pearls manage to look very well together on these extremely chic envelope purses for evening which come in all sizes.

The serpent tempts Eve's daughters with a vengeance, as the fad for snakeskin accessories grows daily. Umbrella handles have now adopted the prevailing mode of reptilian leather, and are a smart manifestation of this vogue.

Hitting the nail on the head, a pink chiffon evening gown has a bodice studded with gold nailheads. The girdle of black satin faced with pink is also covered with the same trimming.

ADVICE TO LOVELORN

"MAY THE BEST MAN WIN!"

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

About two years ago my chum and I met a girl. We have both fallen in love with her. We have admitted to each other that we love her. I have [illegible] will not attempt to marry [illegible] because it would hurt my chum's feelings. He has said the same about me.

Should we both give her up? Or shall we tell the girl and let her choose? What can we do?

We have not let this girl know we love her.

A TRUE PAL.

LET the girl you both love decide this question, which means so much to her. Since you and your chum love her, you value her happiness and welfare above all else.

Resolve to remain good friends whichever man she loves and even though you both lose. For it is just possible that the girl you love is not in love with either of you.

"May the best man win!" is my wish for you and your chum.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have been keeping steady company with a young man for a year and a half. His sister's baby (a boy) will be a year old next month. I want to know whether I should give him a present. If so, what do you suggest that is nice, yet inexpensive?

THANK YOU.

GO into a toy shop or a lady's department of a big store and you will find any number of inexpensive things for a wee baby. A nice roly-poly dog of Teddy bear, a lacy jacket—these are mere suggestions. I do not see why you should not make the baby a birthday present, provided his mother is a friend of yours.

DON'T BE SENTIMENTAL.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a girl 17 years old. I am in love with a bashful boy of the same age. I have invited him to my home many times, but he always has an excuse. He has taken me home quite a few times, but he acts distant.

Shall I forget him? Or shall I try again? I love him very much.

BROKEN-HEARTED.

IF you are too insistent, my dear—and especially if you act sentimental or broken-hearted—you may only succeed in frightening away your bashful friend.

Accept his friendship as he offers it to you. Make him feel "comfy" and at home, when he is with you, by being your natural, friendly self.

Girls are older—more grownup—than boys of the same age. It will be several years, doubtless, before this boy of 17 thinks seriously of love and settling down. So, if I were you, I would cultivate a sisterly feeling toward him, and try to be just a good pal. Continue to invite him to your home now and then, if the occasion arises naturally, but do not force things. All success to your friendship.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THE season is too sweet, too fair to stay,
Too brimmed with flowers and fruits,
Too bright with daisies' gold, the breeze too gay
With mocking-birds' disputes.

Yet, for a little while a pause has come
As though old Time stood still
To note a falling pear, to hear bees' hum
And locusts' challenge shrill.

Sometimes, as to the earth in this bright hour,
There comes to men a lull,
While swiftly all life's rare perfections flower
And springs of joy are full.

TRAINING THE CHILD

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

THE moment to begin training your child to be unselfish is while he is still in his cradle. The memory which seems to accompany all of us into this world most poignantly is that of the survival of the fittest, or to use a bit of current slang, "Every man for himself." It takes a good deal of faith in the integrity of our fellows and the power of a Supreme Justice before we truly feel that what is ours will come to us; and with tiny children the primal instinct is to grab what they desire and to hold it at all costs.

Knowing this, it is an easy matter to make sharing a part of the daily routine of your little one, so make it a point to ask the baby for a bit of his milk or a part of his cracker and EAT it, do not merely pretend to do so. Ask to play with the ball or rattle for a moment, and do so.

When he is a bit older, it is an excellent idea to get a dog or bird or cat for his very own, giving him the responsibility of caring for it, seeing that it is fed and comfortable. The delicious cookie must be shared with the dog, of course. He is part of the family and the child must be made to feel that his animal must be treated kindly and included in all the good things which are enjoyed by the human beings.

I knew a mother who worked out a good plan of going over all the toys in the play-chest about once every six months and asking the child to pick out those which he wanted to give away. A less prosperous family was visited by them periodically with huge baskets of clothing and toys.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

VERILY, my daughter, there are many roads marked, "The Way to Happiness." But few have found the way.

* * *

Now, behold, in his youth, a certain man of Babylon dreamed golden dreams of fame. In his ears, he heard the plaudits of the multitude and in his vision, beheld himself crowned with garlands and covered with medals.

* * *

And he renounced many glamorous desires and turned aside from pleasure and divisions; and all his days were spent in labor and in striving.

* * *

And it came to pass, in time, that his wish was granted. But when he sat in the midst of the Mighty, he hearkened vainly for the plaudits, but heard only the whisper of envy and the sneers of the knockers. And his heart was sad. For he perceived that a great man is only a beam in the eye and a target for the tongue of slanderers and the pen of cartoonists and wise-crackers.

* * *

Then he sighed, "What a fool was I! For, alas, not fame, but only love of women bringeth happiness. Lead me to them!"

* * *

And, lo, he turned his back upon his labors, and sought after women and dalliance. And he found a damsel who pleased his eyes and delighted his senses, and set out to win her.

* * *

But when he had won her, behold, he found her flatter than a marcel wave in a fog, and more boresome and burdensome than a pet mosquito. And quarreling and nagging were his portion. For her only appeal was sex appeal. And after each conquest, he was sore at heart, and more lonely than before.

* * *

Whereupon, he turned from women and set himself to acquire riches. For, he said, "Money is power! And will BUY anything!"

* * *

And after many years, it came to pass that his coffers overflowed, and his yachts and motor cars and airplanes and houses were so many that he could not count them.

* * *

Yet, lo, he was not happy! For he found himself beset by grafters and promoters and robbers in friends' clothing. And, he lived behind locked doors, in fear and suspicion of all mankind.

And there came a day, when he gave away all his moneys, and set forth upon a lonely road to the Land of Adventure. And beside him walked the Woman of His heart. And to cheer his spirit, he made a little song and sang it as they went. And, behold, for the first time in all his life he was HAPPY!

For all his days he had desired secretly to make songs but had never found the time or the inspiration. And, he said in his heart, "At last, I have found the road to the Land of Heart's Desire!"

Verily, verily, only that man is happy who doeth the thing that he rejoiceth to do! Even he who hath found the WORK he loveth, the WOMAN he loveth, and is FREE!"

N. E. TELEPHONE MAKES RULES TO STOP LOSSES

Through the new rules of the N. E. Telephone Co. regarding the collection of accounts due have caused considerable number of protests the Department of Public Utilities reveals that the rules were put into effect after the company had charged off $1,725,000 as uncollectable in Massachusetts in the last five years.

W. H. O'Brien

"These figures," says the statement from William H. O'Brien, director of telephone utilities, "show there was something radically wrong with the company's collection practices and without imposing a hardship on any subscriber certain necessary changes have been made in the rules which ought to result in a very small amount of uncollectables.

"Under these new rules the company is requiring advance deposits for new service and special deposits by subscribers who are habitually delinquent in their payments for service rendered.

"Everybody is to be treated alike, or as nearly alike as any human rule will permit. Those who can establish their credit may have service without special deposit.

"The results of these changes should enable the commission to make certain modifications in certain charges now made by the telephone company. Nearly half a million dollars' worth of free service by the telephone company last year is altogether too heavy and subscribers who pay for service ought not have this burden imposed upon them."

HIGHER MOLASSES PRICES MAKE ALCOHOL ADVANCE

New York, Aug. 28—Sharp advances of industrial alcohol prices in 1928 have been created by a diminishing production and a steadily increasing demand for molasses in the United States, according to Maurice Levin, president of the Dunbar Molasses Corporation, which with its English connections is said to be the largest molasses factor in the world.

Prices for basic grades of molasses have advanced 2 cents a gallon above quotations a year ago, and predictions are made that the 1929 offerings will command 3 to 4 cents a gallon more than those now prevailing. The usual carry-over of stock ranges from 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 gallons annually, but this year will be 75 per cent less than normal.

The alcohol and stock-feed manufacturers of the United States require 300,000,000 gallons of molasses, the major portion of which is taken over by the 14 commericial alcohol producers composing the Industrial Alcohol Institute. They make 97 per cent of the 85,000,000 wine gallons of industrial alcohol employed annually by the automotive, paint, varnish, rug, chemical and other legitimate users.

SEED POTATO ACREAGE SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Increase of 32 per cent in certified seed potato acreage for 1928 over 1927 is reported by New England Crop Reporting Service, with 63,587 acres of potatoes entered for certification, against 48,299 in 1927 and 24,311 in 1926. Average in Maine increased 30 per cent. New Hampshire 61 per cent. Vermont 16 per cent. New York 52 per cent. New Brunswick 79 per cent. Nova Scotia 17 per cent, and Prince Edward Island 28 per cent.

In Maine blight is prevalent in many fields and may have a harmful effect on yields if such weather prevails as to encourage spore germination.

JULY BUILDING PERMITS SHOW 9 P. C. INCREASE

Total building permits issued in 214 cities reporting to F. W. Dodge Corp. during July amounted to $239,202,800. Although this is 10 per cent less than previous month, it is 9 per cent greater than July, 1927. Increases over 1927 were made by 113 cities, while 101 cities showed losses.

Total permits granted in these cities for seven months were $2,030,248,700, against $1,907,407,200 for corresponding period of 1927, an increase of 6 per cent.

AMERICAN WOOLEN CO. SHOWS $894,000 LOSS

American Woolen Co. for six months to June 30, shows net profit before depreciation of $105,297. After allowing for depreciation there was a deficit of $894,703. This compares with net loss a year ago after depreciation of $822,144. After allowing for preferred dividends in 1927 there was a deficit of $1,843,404.

INDIAN MOTORCYCLE CO.'S REFRIGERATION MOTOR

Indian Motorcycle Company of Springfield, is experimenting on a new motor for electric refrigeration which is smaller than any now on the market. It also has the advantage of simplicity.

This is part of the program of the company to diversify its products which also includes experimental work on a new four-cylinder car.

Frank H. Meloon, Financial Editor of the Boston Evening American, will resume his daily column and regular investment service upon his return from vacation. B. C. Forbes, also on vacation, will resume his column after Labor Day.

JULIUS ROSENWALD

In the dark days of 1921 he offered Sears Roebuck & Co. $16,000,000 and donated 50,000 shares of stock then selling around 60, with a three-year option to repurchase at par. He repurchased at $100 in 1926. The stock is now selling on a basis of $600, having been split four for one.

NEW PLAN FOR N. E. MARKETING INFORMATION

From the Department of Commerce at Washington comes information regarding details of a new plan in distributing the New England marketing information which the department has been compiling for some time and which should be of great value to New England merchants and industries.

The first plan was to put the information out in three rather large volumes, but it was decided more recently that smaller pamphlets would probably be much more useful for the purpose in mind and provide a far more convenient and effective means of getting the information to the business men and the public generally.

As a result, the first and probably the most important volume is being broken up into a series of pamphlets, each one dealing with a major subject. Under present arrangements the first pamphlet will probably bear the title, "Retailing and the Consumer in New England," followed by another pamphlet devoted to "Wholesaling and the Major Trading Areas of New England," and a third devoted to "The New England Food Supply."

There will probably also be one advance bulletin dealing with New England industries. We have tentatively decided to get out the books in advance under release dates providing an interval of at least ten days between each pamphlet.

Later on all of the information will probably be brought together in two rather large volumes, one bearing a title such as "The Industrial Structure of New England," and the other, "The Commercial Structure of New England." There will probably also be a third large volume called, "The Market Data Handbook of New England."

mous son, George M. Cohan, died yesterday. Thousands will sympathize with the brilliant and only survivor of the Cohan family who wrote the best war song, "Over There." Those no longer young will remember that family united as the "Four Cohans," mother, father, daughter and son, happy together and making others happy.

The Guaranty Trust Co. fears injury to business caused by the present high cost of money.

The statement coming from an authority should interest President Coolidge. The interest rate in Wall Street yesterday was 8 per cent. That is usury, and usurers should be jailed.

Financial institutions, encouraged by the Federal Reserve board, are openly practicing usury, driving control of the world's money market from the United States to England, threatening prosperity and gouging business men by a deliberate conspiracy to increase interest rates.

If a lot of workmen formed against their employer such a conspiracy as financial institutions have formed against the business men of America some judge would quickly issue an injunction to restrain them.

But high finance IS the government, to a large extent. And there is nothing in sight to restrain that usurious conspiracy.

LUPE VELEZ TO MAKE FILM FOR PARAMOUNT

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28—There are dozens of soft-eyed Latin film actresses in Hollywood, but so far as I know, only one Lupe Velez. Lupe can sing in a soft melodious voice. She can talk in an accent that is sure to make the tired business man less tired and moreover she can act. That's why B. P. Schulberg has been dickering with United Artists to borrow her for "The Wolf Song."

I heard on the best authority the arrangements are completed and Lupe Velez will sing her quaint Mexican songs in this all sound Paramount talkie. John Farrow has written the scenario from Harvey Ferguson's book and Victor Fleming will direct.

Lupe is finishing "The Love Song" with D. W. Griffith and D. W. has much to say about the future of the little Mexican tiger cat who says what she thinks without reservations.

AL JOLSON is trying his hand at song writing and play writing. Ever since he and the movie became friends he has wanted to make a picture and capitalize on the popularity of his world famous song "Mammy." But there has never been a story that just appealed to him, so he has written one himself and it's been chosen as his next Warner Vitaphone.

The "Vitties," as Jolson calls them, have completely won him and so has Hollywood. Friday night at a farewell dinner given him at the Plantation by Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Zanuck, he expressed grave doubts whether he would remain long enough in New York to put on "Mister Bones." If he does, he says it is going to be a short season for he will trek right back to little old Hollywood and get ready to produce "Mammy" for the talkies.

Al admits under cross-examination that it is not the Hollywood girls who have captivated him but the climate. He says he is still true to his wife although they have separated. There are plenty of girls out here that wish he weren't so true.

WITH two or three pictures to choose from Lila Lee has decided to go to Tiffany Stahl. "The Man in Hobbles," directed by George Archainbaud, is her choice. It's a good part too for although Peter B. Kyne seems to do better by his men than by his women in this case he has given Lila a good break.

Johnny Harron has the leading male role and others in the cast are Lucien Littlefield, Betty Egan and Jacqueline Gadsdon. Lila, slim, young and a trouper who has few equals among the younger generation, should be kept busy.

THE palatial beach house that Bebe Daniels is building at Santa Monica will have to wait for its owner for sometime. Bebe, whose early experience as an actress was on the stage, may remain in New York to make a talkie for Paramount. Now that she is there, why not?

The Paramount studios at Long Island are open and ready for business. Bebe has been much entertained by the Thomas Meighans, whose guest she has been for the last few weeks. Letters from Manhattan tell of seeing her here and there with Tommy Hitchcock, the polo champion.

SOME years ago Renaud Hoffman made a picture on a shoe string called "Not One to Spare." Opinions as to its merits varied, but it did establish him as a producer and author. Now he is back in our midst about to give the palpitating world "The Stool Pigeon" officiating as both director and author.

The pretty little dark eyed Olive Borden, who seems to flourish as a free lancer, will play the leading feminine role. Charles Delaney, Lucy Beaumont, Louis Matheaux, Al Hill and Ernie Adams are also in the cast. The company for whom Renaud is megaphoning and writing is Columbia.

JACK PICKFORD is returning to Hollywood. He went East with the intention of going to Europe and affiliating himself with some European film concern, but Mary Pickford to whom Jack will always listen for advice and counsel has persuaded him not to make the trip until he is entirely well. Reports from the East say he is much better than he was when he left here a month or so ago.

THE Russian Eagle is to live again. Friends of General Lodijensky have come to his aid with such offers of financial help that it seems likely this popular cafe will again open its doors. Although it was only open a very short time it had the patronage of Hollywood's best known film folk.

Then came the fire on a night when such celebrities as Charlie Chaplin, Jack Dempsey, Estelle Taylor and others were dining there. Everyone felt sorry for the general and everyone has expressed hope that the Eagle will become a Hollywood institution.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random: Constance Talmadge wearing a green handkerchief tied cowboy fashion around her neck. Buster Keaton playing with an airplane he built for one of his boys. Peg Talmadge issuing a few family instructions before she and Connie left for New York.

Harry Crocker hurrying to a story conference at Chaplin studios. Louis Wolheim planning an air trip to Mexico. George Bancroft departing on a fishing expedition. Esther Ralston joining a dancing class. Fannie Brice singing at the Plantation and receiving uproarious applause. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

ELECTRIFYING BATTERY SETS

By FRED TOYE.

SERVICE problems have almost entirely disappeared for those persons who have installed modern socket-powered receiving sets in their homes. In the cases of a few early models of A-C sets, owners are finding that there is a diminution of quality and volume, due to failure of tubes. It is probably a fact that the early alternating current tubes, especially the detector, were of comparatively short life. In addition, there is a tendency for listeners to keep their sets running for much longer periods than would be the case with battery-operated sets. With a battery set, there is always present the realization that the battery is continually running down. With electric sets, listeners lose sight of the fact that the longer they run their sets each day, the more they are cutting down the life of their tubes. However, recently improved tubes show a service life of 1000 to 3000 hours and more. It is recommended that listeners who are experiencing trouble with alternating current sets of the earlier type should look to their detector tubes first, and next to the various amplifying tubes. Rectifying and power tubes are less liable to a brief life phase.

Many Good Battery Sets

THERE ARE thousands of high grade battery sets in operation which owners hesitate to discard in favor of so-called electric sets. The question is frequently asked whether it is possible and practical to re-wire these sets for socket power operation. The answer is that it is practical and possible, but in most cases inadvisable. The same result may be obtained with greater ease and with better results by other means. Battery sets may be electrified easily and simply by two methods. One is to equip the set with a so-called harness which adapts it to alternating current. The other method is to supply power direct to the present battery tubes through a combination of B eliminator and filament filter system.

A-C Harness

IT SHOULD be borne in mind that whether the set is to be rewired, adapted to A-C tubes by means of an A-C harness, or powered by an eliminator-filter system, a B eliminator is required. In the event that the present set is operated altogether by batteries, the best thing for the listener to do is to trade in his battery set and buy a standard socket-powered set. In the event that he has a B eliminator and wishes to keep his set, he can easily complete the electrification of the receiver by means of an "A" filter block. This is placed in parallel with a 2 amp. trickle charger or transformer-rectifier combination, and the receiver. Obviously a relay switch must not be used as it is necessary to have both the trickle charger and B eliminator drawing current from the line while the set is in use. One switch on the power line ahead of the eliminator-filter system will control all current.

B Eliminator Needed

IN THE EVENT that the listener wishes to have alternating current tubes in his set, it is necessary to purchase a harness cable which will automatically rewire his set for A-C operation and supply the socket adaptors for the A-C tubes. In connection with this harness it will be necessary to have a B eliminator to supply the various plate voltages, and a transformer to supply the necessary raw A-C filament voltages to the tubes.

A B C Unit

A THIRD method which is perhaps more satisfactory, more economical of current, but a little more complicated for the novice, is to rewire the receiver slightly for filament series operation from a B eliminator using a tube such as the Raytheon BA. In this way it is possible to obtain A, B, and C power from a single unit, and still use the old, economical and efficient battery tubes.

"OUR GANG" GUESTS OF SALISBURY CHAMBER

Salisbury Beach, Aug. 28—The Boston Evening American's choices for "Our Gang," movie stars, who were selected from more than 7000 boys and girls, will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce here next Wednesday.

During the afternoon of the "Kiddies' Day" program the "Gang" members will be introduced to the visitors at the beach and a big time is being planned for the hundreds of young ones who participate in the weekly program.

STAGE AND SCREEN

BRISK COMEDY IS PLYMOUTH ATTRACTION

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

Ralph Morgan

SOMETHING of a pre-nuptial celebration gave the new season in the theater a glimpse of back stage vaudeville at the Plymouth last evening. It was a gay affair, smart in vaudevillian quips, sophisticated and, on the whole, sparkling. In these days of dubious regard on the subject of what may be the next step in big time vaudeville, the ambitious John McGowan turned playsmith on a tender subject and wrought a good, safe job. At least, he may be credited with having an eye for brisk comedy as it generates back of the curtain. And without stopping for breath he plunged courageously into the vital tragedies of the small time, as well as the big time, show folk.

The better part of "Excess Baggage," which Mr. McGowan calls his play, was taken up with the flirtations and progressive romances of those who take their art seriously and hope for the best. The best, in this instance, was an invitation to exhibit finished wares to Broadway. And there was tragedy, too, for the boy who contributed the slide of death from balcony to stage missed the last 15 feet while the absent wife and sweetheart of four-a-day memory was occupied with less important problems.

As an intimate view of the jollities, banterings and deadly seriousness of what goes on behind any theater curtain, "Excess Baggage," will more than hold its own. It is both flip and fluent; it coaxes laughs and stirs emotions. To those who are theater wise the comedy will click with precision; to those less gifted with assurance in the ways and means of how vaudeville is built, shaped and presented, "Excess Baggage" unfurls new bits of human frailties and unexpected humors. Mr. McGowan's first lapse from acting into playmaking appears to have brought its own reward.

In personnel, "Excess Baggage" was affluent. Twenty speaking parts baffled, confused and stymied the reviewers. And outside of this, Phil Ehlich's orchestra added its own disarrangement of orderly proceding. Of the players, Ralph Morgan reeled under the heaviest burden. He was the tortured victim of questionable story. Frank McHugh made good times out of bad as the glib boy of the family circuit. He passed every test.

Others who laid friendly hands on the evening's entertainment were Suzanne Willa, Peggy O'Connor, Ruth Thomas and Lucille Fenton. And we hope nobody honestly deserving mention has been forgotten.

"Excess Baggage" is vaudeville raised to bigger dramatic tariffs, with back-stage secrets served with many laughs and a few dabs of sweet calamity.

GRETA GARBO IN ORPHEUM HIT

Greta Garbo achieves new triumphs in "The Mysterious Lady," current feature photoplay at Loew's Orpheum. The famous Swedish star, in the role of a Russian spy, is the heroine of a vivid plot centering about military intrigue that engulfed Europe before the World War, plotting also downfall of a young enemy officer, whom she realizes that she loves after he has been disgraced.

Conrad Nagel plays opposite Miss Garbo as the dashing Austrian cavalryman who falls under the charm of the beautiful spy.

Al Herman, billed as "The Assassin of Grief," headlines the variety stage bill with a great assortment of humorous bits and songs. A spectacle entitled, "A Carnival of Venice," is well presented by Mme. Donatella and an assisting cast of six song and dance artists.

Other acts are Robinson and Connie in a comedy skit; Natalie Alt, exceptional singer; Ward and Wilson in a novelty act, and the Le Rays, aerialists.

An added screen attraction is the showing of a very thrilling and instructive film, "The Making of a Newspaper."

Fair Opens Today

Rochester, N. H., Aug. 28—With hotels and rooming houses crowded to capacity, the business section gayly decorated, exhibits and attractions all in place at Cold Spring Park, Rochester, was ready for the 53rd annual fair, "the State's own," which will open today and continue for four days and nights.

Coming Events

HOWARD — (Burlesque) "Wine Woman And Song" revue. Also a personal appearance of South Boston Jim Maloney.

NORUMBEGA PARK—Pictures and vaudeville in the open air theater, and midway attractions.

BOWDOIN SQUARE—Victor McLaglan in "Hangman's House." Ramon Novarro in "A Certain Young Man."

WALDRON'S — Burlesque "French Burlesquers" revue.

Almost Wed

ESTHER RALSTON
Experiments with companionate marriage in the film, "Half A Bride," at the Keith-Albee Boston, and decides in favor of the "old fashioned way" after all.

RALSTON FILM AT BOSTON

"Half a Bride," Esther Ralston's new starring picture, proved to be an intriguing entertainment when shown at Keith-Albee yesterday.

The new Esther Ralston vehicle is a dramatic picture based on the experiences of a pleasure-mad girl, who finds true happiness in a trip back to nature.

Gary Cooper, the versatile star, whose recent successes have made him a popular screen favorite, has the leading male role and carries it off excellently.

Miss Ralston and Gary Cooper are washed ashore on a deserted island off the Canadian coast and, during the weeks of privation which follow, Miss Ralston learns the emptiness of her former life as a petted society debutante and, in addition, learns to love her fellow castaway.

The picture deals with companionate marriage and its foibles and includes a variety of locale, including the ballrooms of the wealthy, the pleasure dives of the underworld, the life aboard an expensive sea-going yacht and a deserted island.

A bill of vaudeville is also shown

NEW SHOW ON GAYETY BILL

Alice Du Val

The "Girls from Happyland," new show at the Gayety yesterday, proved one of the happiest burlesques which has ever come to the Washington st. house. There was a barrel of action, a world of color, and sufficient specialties to please even the most case-hardened burlesque fan.

Irving Selig, leading comedian, got over his humor in a quiet dry way, which only added to the laughter caused by the strange mix-ups he became involved in. He uses less makeup than most any other comedian on the stage and yet keeps his audience in a high state of hilarity. With him was Ben Lerner, a dialect comedian, who garbled English until some of it sounded like the bubbling of charged water.

The girls of the show, headed by Rose Lee, Alice Duval and Leona Reed, proved themselves apt at entertaining. Alice Duval was a veritable whirling dervish. Her feet were never still. Leona Reed had a way of singing blue songs which was highly pleasing to the audience.

TO MAKE LAST TRIP TO PORTLAND LABOR DAY

The Boston-Portland service of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., maintained by the steamer Calvin Austin, will continue through Labor Day.

The final sailing will be on the holiday night, next Monday, and on the steamer's return Tuesday afternoon she will be withdrawn.

Following suspension of the passenger service the company will substitute a strictly freight service between the two cities with the steamer Wilton, which is to leave Boston each Wednesday and Friday evening at 6 o'clock through the winter months.

NAVY BALLOONS TO BE RELEASED FROM LINER

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—The liner America, leaving New York tonight, will be accompanied to Cherbourg and back by balloons. Three naval officers are to release them from the vessel to study air currents.

NEW COLONIAL SHOW HAILED A TRIUMPH

Franklyn Ardell

The early fall buyers of after-dinner amusement are being shown something smart in full fashioned musical comedy now at the Colonial. The piece is "Cross My Heart," ornate, brisk, tuneful, comic, sophisticated and well dressed. Sammy Lee, who has been responsible for the dances in many a good show, produced it. The music and lyrics bear the names of Joe McCarthy and Harry Tierney of "Rio Rita" fame. Daniel Kussel did the book, and P. Dodd Ackerman designed the settings.

The list of players "stars" no one in particular, but after Mary Lawlor's conquest of last night's audience, that coveted designation ought to rest worthily upon her slim white shoulders

HEAVY APPLAUSE

The same heavy rumbles of applause that boom after Marilyn Miller at the conclusion of a captivating song or dance were bestowed on comely Miss Lawlor.

When, in the inevitable musical comedy way, the gentlemen of the chorus crowd admiringly around the pretty leading lady to woo her in a body, with song, and when she coyly eludes them, still singing, and when those chivalrous boys make for her a "queen's chair" with their own strong hands and bear her aloft to the wings—when all these fetching things take place, it is a fairer sight, much fairer than usual, when it is Mary Lawlor who is thus sailing away.

But if, again in terms of musical comedy, there is need of a ravishing leading lady, there is also a need for one who can make the audience laugh. That is where Lulu McConnell comes in. Surely you remember Lulu! She of the croupy voice, and the dismayed stutter, and the—er—inches around!

No one on an exceedingly busy stage last evening was such a dynamo of energy. If "Cross My Heart" is not the hit it appears, it will be no fault of Lulu McConnell's! Phew! how she carried on. And how the audience took to her. Thunders of applause was her reward.

GENEROUS SHOW

"Cross My Heart" is a generous show. It has more good things than Santa Claus. Take a look: Franklyn Ardell and Eddy Conrad as a pair of romping funny men; Doris Eaton tap-dancing excitedly; Clarence Nordstrom as a not too imposing leading man; the daring specialty dancers, Gilbert and Avery; a good tenor voice from Charles Peters, and Messrs. Fairchild and Rainger playing hot piano in the orchestra.

"Cross My Heart" has yet more distinction, it has a book in which many more events than usual must transpire before the inevitable boy gains the inevitable girl. But what matters the plot when the eye and ear are so busy? Stately show girls richly arrayed, deep opulent settings, dances in the typical Sammy Lee manner—all these things to fix the roving eye.

And the music? It is the kind that you will whistle on leaving the theater—and for many days to come.

Week's Features

George M. Cohan's "Whispering Friends" will take the stage at the Hollis next Monday.

"Golden Dawn," Arthur Hammerstein's operetta, will come to the Shubert on Monday, September 10.

"Just A Minute," a musical comedy is announced as the opening attraction at the Tremont, starting Monday, September 10.

Gene Buck's "Take the Air," will move into the Wilbur on Monday, September 10.

Continuing Shows

WILBUR—"The Great Necker," a farce. Liberally epiced with drolleries by Taylor Holmes.

SHUBERT—"Sunny Days," a musical play. Billy B. Van of Newport, N. H., surrounded by pretty girls.

COPLEY—"The Bellamy Trial." Court action brought into the drama with unusual results.

300,000 MOSQUITO FEVER CASES PARALYZE ATHENS

Athens, Greece, Aug. 28 (INS)—The epidemic of dengue fever, a semi-tropical scourge due to mosquitoes, has affected 300,000 residents of Athens. Business is practically at a standstill, streets are deserted and hospitals are crowded far beyond capacity. More than 150,000 are now seriously ill and an equal number are recovering from mild attacks of the disease. No fatalities have been reported.

1200 TO TAKE PART IN CHELSEA FIELD DAY

More than 1200 Chelsea children, who have taken part in the playground activities of Chelsea during the summer, will demonstrate their knowledge at the sixth annual field day which will be held at Carter Field, Chelsea.

Playground Director Arthur Carolan will be in charge of the demonstration. Upwards of 25,000 people are expected to witness the work of the children.

BARRYMORE IN SHOWY FILM AT STATE

By LEO GAFFNEY

Camilla Horn

What with its stormy title and the frequent spectacle of a Barrymore writhing in his art, the uninitiated will readily fall in with the idea that "Tempest," at Loew's State, is another priceless jewel of the shadow stage. But the wise ones will simply smile a crooked little smile and see nothing more than just one more painted display of John Barrymore. From a multiplicity of angles the voracious camera "shoots" the magnificent Barrymore profile, the admirable Barrymore figure, until you wonder if there can possibly be any more phases of Mr. Barrymore in existence.

You have Mr. Barrymore in uniform—a gorgeous white affair, with high collar and glossy riding boots—and you have Mr. Barrymore in rags. You have Mr. Barrymore in triumph, you have him in trouble and you have him 'n tears, many times. And, ah, yes, Mr. Barrymore also struts about for a scene or two with his shirt off.

Heigh! Ho!

"Tempest" ought to fetch a good bit at the box office because it has what every showman is after—something to look at.

The State stage for the week shows Gracella and Theodore in a singing and dancing revue, and Carlton Emmy and his "Mad Wags" in comedy.

Dog Bites 43d Child

For the forty-third time in four months a child was bitten in Revere today when James Miskelly, 12, of Proctor ave., that city, was attacked by a white poodle on Broadway.

Do You Walk Fast?

You Can't Beat the Automobile

Of the nineteen persons killed in automobile accidents in Massachusetts last week, FOURTEEN were pedestrians.

One was a boy, who lost his life trying to jump upon a moving truck.

Registrar Parker takes the "abnormally high fatality rate among pedestrians" as the text for a talk on being careful, cautioning motorist and pedestrian to remember that automobiles generally travel five or six times as fast as a person can walk.

"Most of the pedestrians were simply crossing the street, little realizing that a person walking at the rate of four miles per hour goes only about six feet in one second, while an automobile traveling at 20 miles per hour covers 30 feet in the same second. . . . The miscalculation of these distances, and consequent delay in BRAKING, are prolific causes of accidents."

Which reminds us that in a careful reading of the daily newspapers of Massachusetts last week we read of one driver—only one—being fined on account of poor brakes.

This singular prosecution took place in Newburyport. The motorist came from Haverhill. His arrest followed a collision at Warner's corner.

If the proper authorities will get rigorously after all the "junk" on the roads, there will be fewer killings of pedestrians.

And the number of these fatalities will be further reduced when pedestrians appreciate the folly of crossing the street in the middle of the block.

Cross at the cross-walk!

Can You Do This?

Perhaps You Can Do Something MORE Important

DULUP SINGH FINISHES THE LONG JUMP

Dulup Singh from India, champion long-distance jumper, is finishing the long jump at the Olympic games.

This is a fine picture of motion and energy. The arms are stretched back like the "stream line" in a boat, to minimize air friction. The head is down, legs and knees up, for the same purpose. It requires tremendous physical energy to hurl this man through the air.

A majority of us could not possibly do this. We couldn't get so high in the air, we wouldn't know how to go about it.

But, fortunately, many of us can do things MORE important.

For instance, to make your thinking jump ahead of present days and to THINK IN THE FUTURE, is more important than physical jumping ahead on a "long jump."

An individual has just SO MUCH energy, mental and physical. If he overdoes his physical energy it takes away from the mental. If he overdoes the mental energy, he takes away from the physical.

You can get any number of machines and any number of animals to do the physical things better than any human being can do them.

But you can't get any animal or any machine FOR THINKING. Man must do that himself.

The greyhound can run faster and jump farther. The gorilla can fight better, could take our four best heavyweights in a twenty-four-foot ring, and in five minutes they would all be dead.

The kangaroo jumps just naturally. A cheap little runabout will outrun all the Marathon runners that ever were born. Man alone can THINK on THIS PLANET.

THINKING ALONE CREATES PROGRESS.

Speed, stamina, staying power are admirable in young athletes if they don't overdo it.

But the finest thing of all is to develop stamina, speed and staying power IN THE BRAIN, where thinking is done.

The whole world will hear about Dulup Singh on account of his long jumping. But the world won't be any the BETTER for it, and his own country, India, wouldn't be any the better for it, if he could jump across the Atlantic Ocean.

But one real thinking man might make the 300,000,000 inhabitants of India independent of Britain, now ruling them, and what is most important, might give them a better government than the British Government.

Just now the British Government is a great deal better than their own, and much better than any that they would be apt to establish, with their unfortunate ideas of widow burning, child marriage, etc.

THE CONTINUATION SCHOOL A HELP

By DR. FRANK CRANE

MANY children must go to work regardless of how much they desire an education. It is the wish of the government that all children be educated. The best guarantee of the success of such a democracy as ours is the general intelligence of the populace.

Many states have passed laws requiring a compulsory part time school or a continuation school. New York passed such a law in 1919.

The law requires all children under 17 years of age to attend continuation school four hours a week if they have not completed a four-year high school course. Evening school may not be substituted.

"During the past school year," says Governor Smith, "128,000 minors under 17 years of age attended these schools, and the value of this new program is now evident. The advantage of providing training for citizenship for those who are just taking up the duties and responsibilities of life commends itself to all right thinking people, and the policy should be actively supported by every community in the state."

According to a recent report by Morris E. Siegel, director of the Continuation Schools in New York, 65,500 students are enrolled in 15 public school centers and 24 department stores, commercial and industrial organizations. Eighty-five per cent of these pupils are receiving pay from employers and are required to attend continuation school four hours a week.

Continuation school laws are now operated in 26 states. In some states eight hours a week attendance are required. Every effort is made in these schools to find out the student's natural bent. He is given a tryout at different kinds of work. The program fits the education to the child and does not fit the child to some system nor aim to make him a so-called gentleman.

It may be that he is not fond of mathematics, but he may have other traits.

It may be that he has some physical weakness and the occupation he has chosen would impair his health.

This school studies the child and endeavors to place square pegs in square holes and not in round ones.

Much attention is paid to training girls for home-makers, an education much needed by many of foreign birth or extraction.

Many employers are glad to co-operate with these schools. The schools supply them with valuable help. The Society of Mechanical Engineers, the United Cigar Stores, the American Book Company, and many other business concerns express their approval of the continuation schools.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Should Love Be Blind?

HERE'S an amazing letter from a wife.

It won't surprise other wives, but it will undoubtedly hand large jolts to all the husbands who read it.

"I have been married eight months," she writes. "You know how a young wife of 24 is supposed to feel about her husband. And, in a way, I do feel all the things I'm supposed to feel. I adore Lon. I thrill when I hear him coming. I dream of the years ahead, and yet—and this is the terrible part—I have the most dreadful spells of disloyalty to him.

"I do not mean that I care for any other man or would do anything to hurt him. But I find myself thinking about his faults and criticizing all sorts of trivial things. I know I'm wrong. I know that if I keep up this habit I'll undermine our love. I know love should be blind——

"BUT MY LOVE CAN'T BE BLIND.

"My love insists on seeing every imperfection in the one I love. And I've always been that way. There has always been a mean, picky streak of disloyalty in me that I hate. And I love and admire loyalty so! Isn't there any cure for a person like me?"

That's a most human document.

If this little wife but knew it, she's exposing the inner cussedness of the whole human race since the beginning of time.

THERE'S NO SUCH THING AS 100 per cent LOYALTY. Not even among out best saints. Remember good St. Peter—that "rock" upon which the church was to be founded. Yet that same "rock" shook visibly on a certain night and denied his Saviour thrice.

We're all like that. We all fail the thing we love. We are all, at some time, disloyal on the truth and beauty in our own hearts. Yet God goes right on building his temples on that same shaky foundation.

And, after all, some of our "disloyalty" isn't such a great offense. We have a sentimental idea that love should be blind—but should it?

The brain doesn't necessarily go to sleep when the heart awakes.

Wise love sees the faults of the loved one—cannot help but see them. Such insight isn't "disloyalty." It's merely good sense. Love wouldn't be a very permanent or profitable performance if it couldn't see faults and try to help them.

DON'T EXPECT OR TRY TO GIVE BLIND LOVE.

Give patient love, enduring love, tolerant love—and above all, give a love that knows how to keep its mouth shut.

FOR WISE LOVE NEED NOT BE BLIND; BUT IF IT HOPES TO KEEP ITS JOB IT SHOULD OFTEN BE DUMB.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Truth is mighty and will prevail.
—Brooks.

One enemy can do more hurt than ten friends can do good.
—Swift.

He who gives up the smallest part of a secret has the rest no longer in his power.
—Richter.

—La Rochefoucauld.

None grieve so ostentatiously as those who rejoice most in heart.
—Tacitus.

Seeing America First

BY O.O. McINTYRE

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 28—Kansas City seems to have entirely recovered from the recent political hoop-de-doo. A few weather-stained Hoover banners survive; otherwise one would never know of the history making exercises held here so recently. The weather is hot, coats rare and perspiration profuse.

A messenger boy went crying through the station: "Telegram for Mr. Billie Burke." "She isn't a he," I called to him, pleased with my worldliness. "And you ain't so he-looking yourself," he replied, which was rather snappy, but was it nice?

Kansas City interests me more than most cities. It was long the goal of youthful day dreams. On a farm 30 miles away I spent hours in lazy contemplation of becoming a reporter on the Star. And visualizing a headline in the county weekly: "Local Boy Now Big City Journalist."

The Kansas City of that period was encompassed in breakfast at the Coates House; cattlemen with their pistol holsters showing; the glass bar at the Elks' Club filled with running water and live fish; the stock yards; high stepping carriage horses and prize Holstein heifers.

I heard elders talk of the Kansas City "boom" and that things would never be the same. There was an El Dorado rush and the usual boom deflation. But the gloomy predictions failed. The only remaining touch of the K. C. I knew is the custom of sitting in front of hotels in sidewalk chairs.

The ramshackle old union station so long an eyesore, is gone. It was fretted on all sides with cheap-john stores, labor agencies collecting human cargoes for Kansas wheat fields and Montana mines, pawn shops and other tawdry mumbo-jumbo of commercial riff-raff.

In its stead has arisen a labyrinthine temple of marble which for the size of the city is the most magnificent station in America. The boulevards and parks are world models. Kansas City has an insular smugness. It is the most sufficiently unto itself city anywhere. And there are dandy reasons for its pride.

KANSAS City has red-corpuscled enthusiasm for fine bulls, sleek geldings and rare porkers. They discuss the fine points of a Poland China dog with the gusto of an art connoisseur over a rare bit of jade. And it would not be surprising if many could instantly recognize the proper bead on a glass of well aged Bourbon.

PECULIARLY enough the flat "r" of the middle west is missing here. The old settlers were chiefly Virginians and Kentuckians and the pleasant inflections of the South have been handed down. "You all," "sho'ly," and the dropping of the final "r" are pronounced.

IT is one of the few cities where dogs are permitted on street cars. I saw several passengers alight and their pooches trotted after them.

WHAT New York knows as "a front" has no significance. Rich farmers drive in from fertile acres wearing cheap broad-brimmed straw hats, overalls and blue work shirts. Kansas City knows they will likely spend more in a day than dressed up slickers in a week and treats them accordingly. This is not to imply K. C. is a dowdily dressed city. But to judge a man by his clothes here would be utterly I don't know what.

BEFORE starting for the train I told the taxi driver to drive some place for a bite to eat. "Plain or fancy?" he inquired. I replied my tastes were modest, and we drew up in front of one of those roadside ptomaine parlors. "Tell him to make you an Ajax," called the driver. An "Ajax" is a raw hamburger sandwich sprinkled with garlic and onions and covered with a rich brown gravy, and is another reason why I shall always adore Kansas City.

Westward ho!

The Kellogg Compact

Leading to a Side Door of the League?

The Senate with propriety will make a very careful examination of the multilateral peace treaty when Secretary Kellogg brings it back signed from Paris, with a view to determining what obligations it puts upon the United States.

In its original form, the treaty was a flat renunciation of war as an instrument of policy by all signatory states.

Its original import has been altered by notes exchanged between Secretary Kellogg, Sir Austen Chamberlain and M. Briand, these notes having the same binding force as the treaty itself.

The treaty is now so vague that it can mean little as an instrument of peace. On the other hand, it offers the possibility of involvement in Europe's affairs.

Europe is generally hailing Secretary Kellogg's offer of this multilateral treaty as an evidence that the United States has reversed its attitude towards Europe.

Sir Austen Chamberlain has publicly stated that the sole value of the treaty will consist in the extent to which the United States is prepared to back it up. This means that we are expected not only to observe peace but to enforce peace. It was to escape any such obligation that we refused to join the League.

Indeed, if we accepted the obligation that Sir Austen means, we should probably be found a part of the military forces of the League, for it is the League which decides the right and wrong of wars in that part of the world where war continually threatened. And we are signing this peace treaty with members of the League.

If we were going to share in the enforcement work of the League, it would be far safer to do it as a League member, participating in the discussion preparatory to action, than as an outsider.

It seems impossible for us to make any move towards friendly co-operation with Europe without being seized by the hair and dragged towards the side door of the League of Nations.
